

GRAND JURY WILL TAKE UP LYNCHING
AT BOWLING GREEN

Judge Woolfolk Orders Special Panel Summoned to Inquire Into Death of Negro, Roy Hammonds.

SHERIFF RECOGNIZED
SOME OF THE CROWD

Official Says He Will Give Names of Certain Spectators at Hanging When Called Upon.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
BOWLING GREEN, Mo., May 3.—Judge Edgar B. Woolfolk today ordered that a special grand jury be convened here tomorrow to investigate the lynching last Friday night of Roy Hammonds, 19 years old, a negro who was taken from Sheriff Charles Moore and hanged after having been sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment on a charge of an attempted attack on Virginia Terrell, 14 years old, a white girl.

The judge said to a Post-Dispatch reporter: "This will be a serious and determined effort to identify the participants in the lynching and to return indictments against them. So far as I am concerned, no effort will be spared to punish everybody who had anything to do with it."

No Bullet Wounds Found.
Hammonds' body was exhumed yesterday and a post-mortem examination by Dr. E. B. Wilcoxen failed to bear out rumors that bullets had been fired into the body by persons in the mob. No bullet wound was found.

The inquest was begun at 3:30 p. m. yesterday by Coroner James Hendricks in the Probate courtroom, before a crowd which packed the room and overflowed into the corridor. Dr. Wilcoxen and an undertaker were the only witnesses. They testified that death was due to strangulation. The inquest then was continued until Thursday, pending the opening of the grand jury investigation.

Sheriff Recognizes Spectators.
Sheriff Moore, from whom the negro was taken by the mob at the Chicago & Alton Railroad station, is 31 years old. He served in the Rainier Division and was shot in the face at Chateau-Thierry. To a Post-Dispatch reporter he said today:

"I have never said that I did or did not recognize anybody in the mob and I won't say now. I will tell what I know when the grand jury calls me and not before. I recognized a lot of the spectators and I will give their names to the grand jury."

Asked why he did not shoot when the mob broke down the railroad station door to the room where he was holding his prisoner, Sheriff Moore said: "I didn't shoot because I knew that wouldn't stop the mob. They would have killed me and have got the negro, anyway. If I had thought for a moment that killing a man or two in the mob would have stopped them I would have shot."

Assistant Attorney General Miller and Prosecuting Attorney Higginbotham called on the Sheriff last night and assured him there was no truth in a rumor that Miller had been sent here from Jefferson City to make a report to Gov. Hyde as to the advisability of ousting the Sheriff from his office.

Miller said to the Sheriff: "I want you to understand I have no such instructions. My sole purpose is to assist the local authorities in finding and punishing the participants in the lynching."

Negro Professor Resigns.
Prof. H. B. Stone, recognized here as a negro leader and for the last 17 years principal of the Bowling Green negro school, yesterday notified the School Board that he would not accept reappointment, as he was going into the ministry. He will not be reappointed.

John H. Terrill, father of Virginia Terrell, is a member of the School Board, which will meet tonight to consider the annual appointments of principals and teachers.

MOVIE MAN, KILLS THIEF

Adolph Zuker Plots Gun at Door and Prowler Explodes It with Knob.

NEW YORK, May 3.—A man in a trap, consisting of a sawed-off shotgun connected with the knob of a cellar door by a cord and several pulleys, in the home of Adolph Zuker, motion picture producer, at Nyack, was sprung last Sunday night by a burglar who was instantly killed.

This contrivance was designed by the superintendent of the estate after the place had been visited three times by burglars within the past 10 days. The dead man was identified as Edward Cotes, a former convict.

U. S. STEEL TO CUT PAY OF LABORERS 20 PCT. MAY 16

Salaries to Be Adjusted. Gary Says: "Unable to Abandon Entirely 12-Hour Day."

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 3.—Wage rates of day laborers at the manufacturing plants of the United States Steel Corporation will be cut about 20 per cent, May 16, Elbert H. Gary, head of the corporation, announced late today. Other rates, including salaries, will be adjusted equitably, added Gary's statement, issued after a two days' conference here with executive heads of various subsidiary companies.

Announcement of the cut was accompanied by the following statement from Gary:

"After long and painstaking efforts we have not been able to find a practicable basis for the entire abandonment of the 12-hour day or turn in the immediate future."

"However, we have eliminated the 12-hour day in certain departments and shall continue our efforts in this direction with the hope and expectation of making the elimination of the 12-hour day complete during the next year. We do not believe we can satisfy our employees with any shorter limit."

41 WITNESSES
HEARD AT INQUIRY INTO HIGH RENTS

Aldermen Conclude Examination of Tenants and Will Give Landlords Chance to Answer Charges.

TESTIMONY REVEALS
WEST END CONDITIONS

Apartment Dwellers Whose Leases Do Not Expire Until October Now Asked to Renew Them at Advance.

The presentation of tenants' complaints against landlords in the aldermanic investigation into housing and rents in St. Louis was concluded last night with the testimony of 41 witnesses. Three public hearings so far held have been given over exclusively to tenants. Landlords will be given opportunity to defend the charges against them at the fourth hearing, to be held next week.

Testimony last night disclosed a condition, not heretofore established in the hearing—that tenants of desirable West End apartments were leaving in October, now are receiving notices demanding that they indicate at this time whether they expect to renew their leases, greatly increased rentals being specified. Tenants said they knew of no reason why such demand should be made so far in advance of the termination of leases unless that it was that landlords wanted to make sure that they would be able to maintain a high level in rents next year.

Big Increases Demanded.
Typical recitals of this condition were those of Sidney S. Hecht of 323 Clara avenue and B. J. Hirsch of 6325 Waterman avenue.

Hirsch related that his rental for seven rooms and sun parlor five years ago was $90 and that subsequently he paid $105 under a lease which expired in October. He said that last month he received a letter from the owner, Charles Levy, whom he identified as president of the Hub Furniture Co., asking whether it was his intention to renew his lease when it expired. He said he sought Levy's return, he learned that the apartment he had been leasing under a new lease would be and was told that it would be $200. "If anyone else goes in, the rent will be $210," he said that Levy declared. Hirsch said that he was compelled to leave the city for a week and that upon his return, he learned that the apartment he had been leased to another person at $200 a month.

Hecht, who is secretary-treasurer of Hecht Bros. Clothing Co., said that Levy also was owner of the Clara avenue six-family apartment in which he has resided since last October. He took a one-year lease at $125. During the week preceding April 1, he said, he received an inquiry from Levy as to whether he was expecting to renew his lease from next Oct. 1 at $200 a month. He said that he asked for a short time to consider and that when he again went to Levy, the owner said: "Oh, that $200 was my first proposition. You were too slow. The rent now is $210." Hecht said that subsequently he learned from a friend that Levy had offered the apartment to him for $225. In response to a question by President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, he said that the property was in fair condition, but that nothing had been spent in repairs during his tenancy.

No Recent Repairs Made.
President Aloe asked the same question of each witness. The responses for the most part were that nothing has been spent by landlords in repairs in recent years, in some cases as many as five years, which is the period of high building costs. Associate City Counselor Schmidt asked each witness whether the condition of successive rent increases he recited was characteristic of the neighborhood in which he lived. Each replied that it was. Several recited similar experiences of their neighbors.

Dr. G. A. Jordan, assistant Health Commissioner, said that he took occupancy of the 7-room apartment at 4240 Lindell boulevard in October, 1917, at $45 a month. The rent was increased in October, 1918, to $50; in June, 1919, to $55; in June, 1920, to $70, and on Nov. 20, 1920, to $110. He said that the increase to $110 was in violation of a lease which had not expired, but that he was intimidated into paying it by the threat that unless he paid he would be compelled to move. He said that he sought other living quarters for a time and then paid as demanded.

"How do you view your landlord's action?" President Aloe asked.

Doesn't Know Answer.
"As if he had backed me against a wall at the point of a revolver and taken my money," Dr. Jordan said. He said that he did not know the present owner because the property

Illinois House Votes to Give Tenants
6 Months to Move

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 3.—The anti-eviction bill passed by the House, 104 to 20, just two votes over the 102 necessary for an emergency measure. It provides that tenants may have six months to vacate premises after receiving notice to move. Passage of the bill, another of the rent bills, was completed immediately afterward, 104 to 20.

This puts four of the five so-called Kessler tenancy bills through. Gov. Small has signed two of them.

CHICAGO, May 3.—More than 600 eviction suits were filed yesterday by landlords as a result of Chicago's "rent rebellion." The number of suits filed was the greatest ever recorded at one time.

In some cases there were clashes between landlords and tenants when the landlords attempted to obtain possession of their flats while vans loaded with household goods of new tenants waited outside.

NEWBERRY PLANS TO

Senator Makes Announcement Following Supreme Court Decision in His Case.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, May 3.—Senator Truman H. Newberry, whose conviction in District Court at Grand Rapids, Mich., for conspiracy to violate the Federal corrupt practices act, was set aside by the United States Supreme Court yesterday, plans to leave for Washington within a few days to resume his seat in the Senate, he announced last night. The Senator had declined to sit in the Senate pending the Court's decision on his appeal.

Sensor Newberry's comment on the Supreme Court decision was that he was "thankful the good name of Michigan had been cleared, that those accused with him had been vindicated and that the confidence of thousands of loyal friends had been confirmed."

Ford's Attorney Says Decision Will Not Stop Fight for Seat.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Alfred Lucking, counsel for Henry Ford, in the Detroit manufacturer's contest before the Senate for the seat of Senator Newberry of Michigan, conferred today with Senators regarding a continuation of the Senate inquiry into the 1918 Michigan elections.

In a formal statement, Lucking said the decision of the Supreme Court yesterday setting aside the conviction of Senator Newberry, did not affect Ford's contest before the Senate Committee. He added that the Supreme Court had pointed out in its decision that the Senate had full power to pass upon the seating of members.

Motion to Set Aside Verdict in New Jersey Case Results.

By the Associated Press.
ORANGE, N. J., May 3.—A new perplexity incident to the eligibility of women for jury service in New Jersey arose here yesterday when a motion was made to have the verdict set aside in a civil suit on the grounds that the lawyer for the successful litigant took one of the women jurors out to luncheon during a recess of the court.

The woman juror admitted that she accepted the lawyer's invitation to lunch, but declared the case was not discussed during the meal. The judge announced he would review the circumstances before rendering a decision.

37-YEAR BONDS TO BE

Another Note to U. S.

BERLIN, May 3.—The German Government, says the Lokal Anzeiger, dispatched to the United States Government last Saturday an interpretation of the recent German proposals sent to Washington concerning the amount of reparations Germany was willing to pay, the sum of the annuities and the mode of discounting them.

Adequate Proposals," Considered to Have "Closed Door to Washington."

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 3.—Complete agreement has been reached among the allies on the measures to be taken in connection with the German reparations question, it was announced this evening at the conclusion of the Supreme Council's session. The council had summoned the members of the Reparations Commission from Paris to assist in drawing the protocol for presentation to the German Government.

The members of the Reparations Commission are expected to reach London tomorrow and complete the document by tomorrow evening, when the text or an official abstract will be made public.

The allied ultimatum will be sent to Germany not later than May 6, and will expire six days from that date.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 3.—After approving the measures for the occupation of the Ruhr Valley should Germany fail to comply with the terms of the allied ultimatum, and also discussing the question of a naval demonstration, the allied Supreme Council today completed its examination of the financial clauses of the reparations demands which were virtually agreed upon by the Drafting Committee.

It was agreed that the bonds which Germany is to issue as a guarantee for her reparations payments should run for 37 years, with interest at 5 per cent, plus 1 per cent for a sinking fund, and in addition, by way of the sinking fund, the interest on the amortized bonds. In other words, the interest on the bonds not issued will be payable into the sinking fund.

Modification of Paris Terms.
In the view of the council, these proposals have the advantage of not imposing upon Germany fixed annuities so large as those laid down in the Paris terms, and also of providing a practical scheme by which the allies will receive the utmost farthing Germany is able to pay, with due regard to the preservation of the German industries.

The matter of the appointment of a receiver-general for the German customs was not pressed.

Opinion in the conference was that the commercial result produced by the economic penalties had been satisfactory, the receipts from the allied customs barrier on the Rhine having amounted to 150,000,000 paper in one month.

Blockade Proposal Considered.
Four suggestions were examined by the council this morning, namely, blockade of the German ports, a partial blockade, a demonstration without blockade and seizure of the customs receipts in German ports. The unanimous opinion was that nothing further should be done at present concerning naval action until the views of the Washington plenipotentiaries were ascertained, and only as an additional means of compulsion in the event that occupation of the Ruhr, if carried out, should not prove sufficient to cause a surrender by Germany.

Nine days remain for Germany to inform the Entente of her intentions relative to the payment of reparations and give guarantees for the execution of her promises. She must deal directly with the allies, it is believed today, as Charles E. Hughes, American Secretary of State, is deemed to have "closed the door to Washington" in the note he sent to the German capital late last night.

Hughes suggested that the German Government forward immediately to the allies "clear, definite and adequate proposals which would

65 Passengers and Mem-

Maru Near Cape Mears.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Eight members of the crew of the Japanese steamer Tokuyo Maru died after being taken aboard the United States army transport Buford, according to a wireless received today from Capt. K. Suzuki of the Tokuyo by the Tokyo Kisen Kaisha, owners of the burned vessel.

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., May 3.—Nine persons are believed to have lost their lives in the burning yesterday of the Japanese steamship Tokuyo Maru off Cape Mears, Oregon, according to wireless advices today from the United States army transport Buford.

The transport Buford wireless earlier that she had rescued 65 persons from the burning ship. Eight were reported missing and one dead at that time. Twenty-two men, one woman and four children were in the ship's hospital on the Buford, suffering from exposure.

The Buford picked up all the Japanese ship's few passengers and most of its crew after the flames had forced Capt. F. Suzuki to order the Tokuyo abandoned.

The Buford's wireless said the Tokuyo still was afloat, but that explosions were occurring aboard her. The Buford abandoned the Tokuyo at 9:11 p. m.

The ship had accommodations for a small number of passengers, and these were occupied by Japanese workers and their families returning from South America. Five babies and a number of women were among the rescued.

The Tokuyo Maru is a freighter of 5300 gross tonnage, owned by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha Line. She carried a crew of between 40 and 50 men. The ship left Astoria, Ore., today.

The Tokuyo Maru sailed from Portland, Ore., Sunday for the Far East. The fire broke out in the bunkers about 4:30 p. m. yesterday and made rapid headway. Capt. K. Suzuki gave orders to abandon the ship soon after he discovered efforts to extinguish the flames had failed and that the passengers and crew were in danger.

A number of the crew were forced to jump overboard because the flames spread so rapidly they were unable to launch all the ship's boats. The vessel was abandoned about 60 miles off the coast of Oregon southwesterly from the mouth of the Columbia River.

TESTIMONY OPENS IN MOUNT VERNON MAIL POUCH THEFT

Case of Loren E. Williamson, Indicted in Connection
With $189,000 Robbery,
Is Begun in East St. Louis.

SIX COUNTS AGAINST TWO MEN IN CASE

Trial of Guy Kyle, Business Partner of Defendant, to Be Held Separately Under Severance.

Taking of testimony in the case of Loren E. Williamson of Mount Vernon, Ill., indicted on a charge of stealing a mail pouch from a mail wagon at Mount Vernon on Jan. 14 last, in which there was about $189,000, began this morning in the Federal Court at East St. Louis.

The testimony in the forenoon related to the mailing of the money in St. Louis and its handling en route and in the Mt. Vernon postoffice. W. L. Page, a mailing clerk at Mt. Vernon, testified that Williamson worked in the postoffice as substitute carrier and clerk for two years prior to a year ago.

Mail Driver Gives Testimony.

Sam Moreland, the mail driver, testified this afternoon that he left the mail pouch on the front seat of his wagon while he went into the postoffice to telephone to the station. He was absent three to five minutes. He did not miss it until he reached the station.

Guy Kyle, indicted with Williamson, who was his partner in a garage business, and who is to be tried separately, is in court accompanied by his wife and infant. Williamson's wife and mother are also there.

District Attorney Burnside, in outlining the Government's case to the jury, said that Williamson and Kyle are indicted on six counts—Carrying out and burning four mail pouches; purloining four mail pouches; taking, stealing and carrying away pouches from a mail wagon; stealing and carrying away from a mail wagon certain registered mail; having in their possession $189,000 United States currency, part of the contents of certain mail pouches taken and carried away from a mail wagon.

Money Destined for Banks.

He stated that there was one large mail pouch, in which were three smaller mail pouches, containing money. The money was sent by St. Louis banks, through Mount Vernon, to banks at Mount Vernon, Ohio, and other cities in that neighborhood. He outlined to the jury how the pouch containing the money was placed on a wagon in the alleyway in the rear of the Mount Vernon Postoffice and how it was found to be missing when the driver of the wagon reached the railroad depot. A reward of $5000 was offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the thief or thieves, and an extra reward of 10 per cent of the money recovered was offered.

An auto accessory store operated by Kyle and Williamson, he said, was on the next street to the one on which is located the postoffice, the back of both buildings being on the same alley, and the rear doors about 100 feet apart. Through information given by Williamson some of the money was found in the places of business conducted by Kyle and Williamson, and Kyle was arrested. After denying for several days any knowledge of the theft, Kyle made a statement admitting stealing the pouches, and disclosed where the remainder of the money was hidden. About $189,000 was recovered.

Burnside said that Williamson had been employed at the postoffice and was familiar with the practices of shipping money through the office to the banks in that neighborhood. He said that Kyle made a statement as to how he and Williamson planned and executed the robbery, it being a part of the plan that Williamson would not be in the vicinity of the

Hughes' Note Urging Germany to Make Adequate Proposals

WASHINGTON, May 3.
Special to the Post-Dispatch:

SECRETARY OF STATE HUGHES at 11 o'clock last night sent to Loring Drexel, American Commissioner at Berlin, the following memorandum:

"The government of the United States has received the memorandum left by Dr. Simons with the commissioner of the United States under date of April 24, relating to reparations. In reply to this government states that it finds itself unable to reach the conclusion that the proposals afford a basis for discussion acceptable to the allied governments and that these proposals cannot be entertained.

"This government, therefore, again expressing its earnest desire for a prompt settlement of this vital question, strongly urges the German government at once to make directly to the allied governments clear, definite and adequate proposals which would in all respects meet its just obligations."

PLANS FOR BOND ISSUE BY GERMANY DISCUSSED BY ALLIES

in all respects meet its just obligations."

Brian Pleased With Note.

Premier Brian read the note sent by Secretary Hughes to Germany, when at breakfast this morning. He said he was greatly pleased with the note.

The sum of $6,600,000,000 (normally about $32,142,000,000) was fixed yesterday as the principal of the German reparations debt. Germany will be asked to either acknowledge or repudiate this obligation by May 12. The Supreme Council will send its demand to Berlin through the Allied Reparations Commission.

Pending a reply from Berlin relative to the reparations proposals, France and Great Britain will be preparing concrete measures. Upwards of 150,000 members of the class of 1919 have been called to the French colors, and dispatches from the Rhineland tell of important troop movements toward the Ruhr district, occupation of which, the allies declare, will follow should Berlin refuse to meet the Entente terms.

Hughes Informs Germany Her Offer Gives No Basis for Discussion.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Secretary Hughes informed the German government in a communication dispatched last night that the reparations counter proposals did not afford a basis for discussion acceptable to the allied governments.

French Plans Call for Only White Troops in Ruhr Region.

By the Associated Press.

FRENCH MILITARY HEADQUARTERS, MAYENCE, May 3.—The plans for the occupation of the Ruhr Valley elaborated by the French General Staff provide for the use exclusively of white troops. It was announced here today.

The two Moroccan units which left here last night in the direction of Düsseldorf did not proceed to that city, it was stated, but will be garrisoned elsewhere.

Marshal Foch, who participated in today's meeting, said he could encircle the Ruhr region with troops in one day, and that only six or seven divisions would be necessary.

The occupation could be completed on the second day, he declared, by sending patrols into the interior to take railway centers and strategic crossroads.

Scene at the time, but would help later to dispose of the money.

Notices Payment in Cash.

George L. Ore, attorney for Williamson, said that Williamson knew nothing about the plans for the robbery, and the first act on the part of Kyle that caused him to look upon his partner with suspicion was when Kyle paid about $140 for a C. O. D. package delivered by an express messenger. He said that Kyle had always paid the bills by check.

Williamson, he said, informed the State's Attorney that Kyle's actions were suspicious, and said he believed his partner knew something about the mail robbery.

U. S. GIVES PANAMA 'REASONABLE TIME' TO TRANSFER LAND

Disputed Territory Must Be Turned Over to Costa Rica or Action Will Be Enforced, Note Says.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Unless Panama acts voluntarily within "a reasonable time," the United States will take measures to compel her to transfer jurisdiction of the disputed territory to Costa Rica, Secretary Hughes says in a recent note to the Panama Government. The text of the document was made public yesterday at the State Department.

"This Government believes that it would be inadmissible to interpret its obligations to the republic of Panama as embracing an obligation to support any claims for adjoining territory which might be advanced by the Government of Panama, no matter what the opinion of this Government might be as to the validity or justice of these claims," the note says.

The Panamanian claim that its title to the disputed territory had been unchallenged since colonial times, the note holds, is in no way "entitling the Government of Panama to demand the occupation of territory which is not a part of the republic of Panama and has been conclusively adjudged to belong to Costa Rica."

"That territory which was adjudged to be a portion of the territory of the republic of Costa Rica," the note declares, in accordance with a boundary line which the republic of Panama had formally declared clear and indisputable, still remains in the opinion of the American Government, the territory of Costa Rica."

U. S. Ready to Act.

After stating that the American Government desires Panama to take steps to turn over the territory in question to Costa Rica, the note says, "unless such steps are taken within a reasonable time, the Government of the United States will find itself compelled to proceed in the manner which may be requisite in order that it may assure itself that the exercise of jurisdiction is appropriately transferred and that the boundary line on the Pacific side, as defined by the Loubet award, and on the Atlantic side, as determined by the award by the Chief Justice of the United States, is physically laid down in the manner provided in articles 2 and 7 of the Porras-Anderson treaty."

The note concludes with an expression of regret that the United States "feels itself obligated to communicate to the Government of Panama this determination," but states that it has been reached only after the most careful and friendly deliberation.

Reply to Panama Note.

The note, which is in reply to one from Panama dated March 18, and received here April 21, restates the American position in detail, examining anew the legal aspects of the controversy, although at the same time it says "that an extended discussion of the contentions advanced by the Government of Panama should be unnecessary."

Justifying the statement of the Government of Panama that its people are unanimous in their expressions against recognition of White award, the note says the American Government "has learned of these expressions with deep regret," but expressed confidence that "the people of Panama will recognize the obligation of their Government to comply with the terms of the solemn agreements into which it has entered."

The United States, it adds, cannot consider the suggestion made by the Government of Panama that a plebiscite be held in the territory in dispute as a means of reaching a final settlement of the controversy "because of the obligation of Panama under the Porras-Anderson treaty to consider the award as a perfect and compulsory treaty between the Governments of Panama and Costa Rica."

PROSECUTION OF ANTI-TRUST COAL CASE BEGINS TODAY

Criminal Partnership Between Operators, Miners and Retailers Has Long Existed, Government Charges

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 3.—A criminal partnership between soft coal operators, miners and retailers has existed for many years, according to the charge of the Government in its antitrust prosecution which began today in the Federal Court here today. The indictment is directed at 226 persons and corporations and is in five counts, each charging violation of the Sherman antitrust law.

Among the individual defendants are John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America; D. B. Wentz, president of the National Coal Association, many others of both organizations and some of the most prominent operators in the country.

Prosecutors' officials under indictment number 39, the operators, retailers and their employees, 88, and the corporate defendants 99. The defendants reside in six states—Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Taken as a whole, the indictments charge: First, restraint of trade; second, restraint of commerce; third, restraint of trade and commerce; fourth, conspiracy to monopolize; and fifth, monopolization.

50,000 Words in Indictment.

The indictment is estimated to contain 50,000 words, one paragraph of which says:

"That, at various joint conferences, miners and operators agreed and arranged that they were partners in the mining, production and distribution of bituminous coal in the several states, and that they should and would aid and assist each other in their plans and efforts to increase wages, increase prices, create shortages and limit production and distribution; that bituminous coal should not be sold at any time for a price that did not at the time yield a profit to the operators; that whatever increase of wages of miners should be agreed upon should be added to the price of coal; that competition among operators should be eliminated by organization among operators and such other methods and means as would be effective therefor."

That the means of increasing the cost of production and the price of coal was by closing down and keeping idle the coal mines."

The indictment also attacks the famous "check-off" system of payment, under which the miners, by which the operators virtually act as collecting agency of the union by withholding part of the miners' wages and paying this to the union.

Shortage "Manufactured."

The 1920 coal shortage, according to the indictment, was manufactured by the operators "as a part of the general plan of conspiracy."

By refusing to contract for future deliveries except "for a price which would be the ruling price at the time of delivery," the operators are charged with having erected a "spot" market for coal, and thus "pretending to create a scarcity of available coal and cause a high and excessive price."

The operators are charged with obtaining priority coal shipment orders from the Interstate Commerce Commission, which allowed 20,000,000 tons of coal from the normal market places, mainly by shipments of West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky coal to New England and the Northwest. This diversion, in part, is alleged to have affected contract deliveries, cause immediate purchases at higher prices, and to have driven consumers into distant markets and so disturbed conditions that local shortages were created and industries forced to suspend work.

In respect to the 1920 coal situation, the indictment charges that "there was no shortage of available coal in the United States during that time."

Various other acts are charged by

PARDON BOARD FAILS TO FREE MISSOURI RICE KING

Application for Parole for Geo. Begley Jr. Is "Continued Indefinitely." After the Hearing.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—The State Board of Pardons and Paroles has "continued indefinitely" the application for parole of George Begley Jr. of Poplar Bluff, serving a sentence of 15 years in connection with alleged fraudulent deeds of trust made to secure loans on his large rice properties in Southeast Missouri. Begley, who is known as the "rice king," was represented in his attempts to get a parole by State Senators Fenzel of Poplar Bluff and Irwin of Jefferson City. Irwin informed the board that State Senator Ralph of St. Louis County also was interested in the case.

A member of the Parole Board, in discussing Begley's case, said the incident to increase in their capacity to approach "penitence," and that his demeanor while testifying before the board appeared to be an effort to justify his behavior.

The board's action is equivalent to a denial of the application for the present at least.

SAYS FOREIGN CORPORATIONS IN MISSOURI DODGE FEES

Quarter of Million, Due State, to Be Collected, R. W. Hedrick Announces.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—Corporations chartered in other states but registered and doing business in Missouri, of which there are about 3500, have escaped payment of fees for occupancy of a seven-room apartment at that address in 1915 at $55 a month, paid $90 in 1918, now was paying $145 and had been given notice that after May 10 the rent would be $175. To the question of condition of the property, she replied:

"During the first years I was there, the apartment was redecorated every two years, and the janitor service was good. Now the place compares with the tenement districts. It is not even kept clean."

Mrs. Schenck said the owner of the property was Mrs. Fannie Freund and that the agent was the Cornet & Zeibig Realty Co.

Mrs. James M. Sloan, 5389 Pershing avenue, began residence in a seven-room, third-floor apartment there on last Nov. 20. She said that she was compelled to pay $150. She has learned since she declared that though the first and second-floor apartments in the same building are more desirable, the tenants there are paying only $90 because they possess leases which have not expired. She said that she understood that the Bullock Realty Co. owned the place.

Mrs. Morris Seligstein told of renting a five-room apartment at 3381 Pershing avenue three years ago at $55 and of subsequent advances to $70 and $95. She since has heard, she said, of leases on similar apartments in the same building at $110 a month.

Robert L. Canole has resided at 3608 Connecticut street for two years, he testified, beginning rental on a five-room apartment at $47.50 and paying an increase to $52.50 last June 1. He now has been notified that the rental will be advanced to $100 next June 1, he declared. Nothing has been spent in repairs during his tenancy, he testified.

Aaron C. Sharff testified that he took a six-room apartment at 5547 Waterman avenue two years ago, paying $60, and learned shortly after that the apartments had rented for $40. He said that last year Dr. John W. Withers, former superintendent of schools, sold the apartment to a man whom he could identify only by his last name, Gabelstein, who told him that he could continue occupancy at $70, but before he had time to accept, had increased the rent to $80. Sharff said that a new tenant had moved into the building across the hall from him and was paying $110. He said the owner had told the new tenant that when the leases of other tenants expired in October, the rent would be $125. He declared that some of his friends in was in the hands of speculators and had changed hands frequently, the last transfer being only a few days ago. "When I pay my rent now, I insert a proviso that if I pay to the wrong man, he shall refund it," Dr. Jordan said.

Alderman Scholl asked Dr. Jordan if there was an uncommon prevalence of scarlet fever at this time and whether, if there was, it was due to housing conditions.

"There has been uncommon prevalence of many contagious diseases," Dr. Jordan said, "though I am not prepared to say that the epidemics have resulted from housing conditions."

Dr. Schuster testified that during his tenancy of 12 years at 4343 Lindell boulevard, no considerable sum had been spent in repairs until at this time the property was in very bad condition. He said repeated requests for repairs have been ignored and that recently, when he called on the telephone to tell of the conditions under which he was living, the receiver at the other end of the connection was hung up in his ear.

He occupied the apartment, he said, at $47.50, was increased the next year to $55 and has been paying $100 since March 1. He said the agent for the property was the Rosenbaum-Hauschulte Realty Co.

Rent Doubled Since 1915.

Mrs. Isaac A. Schoen of 5641 Waterman avenue testified that she began occupancy of a seven-room apartment at that address in 1915 at $55 a month, paid $90 in 1918, now was paying $145 and had been given notice that after May 10 the rent would be $175. ## $2,320,139 IN STATE INCOME TAXES IN ST. LOUIS DUE JUNE 1

City Collector's Office to Begin Sending Out the 62,432 Bills This Week.

The sending of State Income tax bills to St. Louis individuals and corporations will be begun this week by the City Collector's office. The bills will be payable June 1, with penalties of 1 per cent a month for delinquency.

There are $9,025 bills against individuals for $1,153,588.41%. There are 3357 bills against corporations, for $1,050,474.44. Bills against 7 insurance companies amount to $339,877; 35 banks and trust companies, $54,023.03%; and eight railroads, $52,676.86%. The total is $2,432,139.44, or $20,139.44%.

Last year's total of bills was $2,540,515.99, but a 40 per cent refund reduced this total to $1,602,638.

Besides those individuals and corporations against whom bills were issued, 13,442 individuals and 2026 corporations this year made returns which indicated that they were not taxable.

The rate of the State income tax is 1 1/2 per cent. Gov. Hyde recently vetoed a bill passed by the Legislature to reduce the rate to 1 per cent.

Due from the building thus was being increased at the rate of $21,600 a year. Vail said that his lease was given by the University Investment Co., of which Fred L. Cornwell is president, and that the agent for the property was the Oren E. and R. G. Scott Realty Co. Another tenant testified similarly.

Adolph Baluka, 2005 South Grand avenue, testified that he was paying $80 a month for two rooms and a sun parlor and that the tenant who preceded him had paid $55.

"Efficiency apartments?" Pres. Alico inquired.

"Deficiency," Baluka replied.

Mrs. John D. Hall testified that two months ago she occupied a three-room efficiency apartment at 5455 Delmar boulevard at $100. She said that she had been told that the original rental of the apartment was $67 and that tenants who now were coming in were paying $115. She said that Cornwell was the owner of the property and Oren E. & R. G. Scott the agent.

In opening the hearing Chairman Luke Hart of the Legislative Committee of the board, which is conducting the investigation, said that there had been criticism of the Board of Aldermen for the passage of the resolution calling upon Gov. Hyde to include housing as a subject of consideration for the special session of the Legislature. He said that the criticism was that the action was hasty, inasmuch as landlords had not been heard. Hart explained that the action was necessarily hasty because, unless the matter was called to the Governor's attention at once, he would not include it in the call and chance for remedy would be lost at this time. He said that the landlords' defense would be brought to the attention of the Governor and the Legislature.

WESCO DENIES ANSELL'S STORY ABOUT BERGDOLL

"Buried Gold Not Mentioned," He Testifies as to Money Draft Dodger Had Hidden "in Mountains."

ANSELL BELIEVED TREASURE STORY

He So States in House Hearing; Declares He Had Not Heard of Case While in Office.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Judge John W. Wescott of Haddon Field, N. J., denied flatly today before a House committee testimony of Samuel T. Ansell, former acting Judge Advocate-General of the army, that he had discussed with Ansell and D. Clarence Gibboney the appeal to the War Department for the release of Bergdoll, Philadelphia draft dodger.

"The buried gold was not mentioned," declared Wescott, referring to the money Bergdoll was supposed to have buried in the West Virginia mountains. "If Gibboney or Ansell had told me of the buried treasure, and what they proposed to do, I'd have told them not to make fools of themselves. I never saw Ansell from that day until this."

Ansell, of counsel for Bergdoll, told the investigating committee today that the story about Bergdoll having buried gold in the mountains of West Virginia "seemed reasonable" and that he believed it.

"The circumstances were impressive," he said, as they impressed General Harris when I laid the facts before him.

The decision to ask the War Department to release Bergdoll under military guard to hunt for the gold was reached, the witness said, at a conference here between Ansell, Gibboney and Judge Wescott.

Gibboney and Wescott, the witness said, came to Washington to discuss steps being taken to obtain a review of Bergdoll's conviction.

"Mr. Wescott said he did not see how the Secretary of War could refuse to overturn the verdict," said the witness. "He told me, among other things, that he had nominated Mr. Wilson for President."

How Bergdoll Obtained Gold.

At this conference, Ansell said, Gibboney told him that Bergdoll had obtained $105,000 in gold from the Treasury for burial in the mountains. The gold, Gibboney was quoted as saying, was obtained through an assistant Secretary of the Treasury, whose name, Ansell said, he did not recall, if it was mentioned.

Gibboney asked then, according to the witness, if there was any way to get Bergdoll out under bail to recover the gold.

"Mr. Wescott thought it doubtful," the witness continued, "but I recalled cases where prisoners under exceptional circumstances were sent out under military guard. Gibboney wanted to know if we could get War Department permission. Westcott said he knew the Secretary of War well, and that he thought I should mention that he and Gibboney joined me in presenting the release plea."

Ansell denied that he had asked the authorities to permit Bergdoll to remain at Governor's Island instead of being sent to Fort Leavenworth, where five-year men were confined. He also denied that he had "received a large fee for nothing."

First Connection With Case.

Ansell said no report of Bergdoll's attempt to escape the draft was submitted to him while acting Judge Advocate-General.

"I had never heard of the case while in office, as I recollect now," he said. "My first connection with the case was on April 3, 1920, when I was called on the telephone by an attorney in Philadelphia. Two days later, Gibboney came to see me. Gibboney told me he had a court martial case, and because of my special knowledge, he felt I could be helpful to him. That was the first I had heard of Bergdoll."

Before returning to Philadelphia, Gibboney, the witness said, gave him a check for $200 as a retainer. Later, after looking over the court martial papers, Ansell said his firm became counsel.

Ansell testified that Harry Wineberger, a New York lawyer, who had defended Emma Goldman and other radicals, was dropped as one of Bergdoll's lawyers because "of his personality." Gibboney, he added, did not think Wineberger got along well with military authorities because of his former association.

Gen. Harris' Testimony.

Major-General Harris, Adjutant-General of the army, who was the first witness to be heard, declared he alone was responsible for Bergdoll's release from the disciplinary barracks so he could recover the treasure he insisted he had hidden. Gen. Harris said Ansell had appealed to him to let the prisoner out, assuring him that the draft dodger's gold story was true and that Bergdoll would be returned to Fort Jay as soon as he had reclaimed it. Gen. Harris had mentioned Westcott, who nominated Wendell Wilson for President in 1912 and 1916, as one of Bergdoll's attorneys.

Gen. Harris said he had seen correspondence between Westcott and former Secretary Baker in reference to Bergdoll's appeal from the five-

Stoessel Named Leader of New York Oratorio

Native St. Louisan Will Succeed Walter Damrosch as Conductor of One of Country's Distinguished Choral Societies.

The coveted appointment as conductor of the Oratorio Society of New York has been bestowed by the Board of Directors upon Albert Stoessel, a native St. Louisan. The Oratorio Society is one of the country's most distinguished choral societies, and Stoessel succeeds in the position a musician of national eminence, Walter Damrosch, director of the New York Symphony Society.

Stoessel is 26 years old, and is the son of A. J. Stoessel, 3120 North Westward avenue, who for many years was director of the Standard Theater orchestra. Young Stoessel is a gifted concert violinist, a composer of attainments, and a director of much experience with the baton.

During the war he was placed at the head of the school for bandmasters which was established in France by the American Army, and thus had charge of the training of many of the band leaders of the expeditionary force. Later he wrote a book on the technique of directing, which has been pronounced a standard work. He is understood to have been one of the applicants for the appointment to succeed the late Max Zach as director of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Stoessel was appointed concertmaster of the St. Louis orchestra in 1917 to succeed his former teacher, Hugo Oik, but never served, as he entered the army before the season opened. The post was then given to Michel Guskoff.

He has twice been soloist at regular concerts of the Symphony Orchestra, on Nov. 19 and 20, 1915, and on Nov. 21 and 22, 1916. He has also appeared here in recital at the Sheldon Memorial Auditorium with his sister, Miss Edna Stoessel, a well-known pianist, and at the St. Louis Woman's Club with Arthur Shattuck, pianist.

Even before Stoessel was graduated from the Ashland Public School he had begun to study the violin, first under Frank Gecks and then under Oik. At the age of 16 he was sent to Berlin, where he became for a year a pupil of Emma Wirth. Then he was admitted year prison term imposed on the draft evader.

Gen. Harris was recalled at the reopening of the hearing today. Questioned as to Bergdoll's desire to find money he claimed he had buried, the General said the lawyers had been asking him to adduce that it was needed in perfecting an appeal.

"Did you think that Bergdoll wanted the money to obtain his release by any means?" asked Representative Johnson, Democrat, Kentucky. The General said he knew nothing on that point.

WOMAN AMONG 12 PERSONS SENTENCED UNDER DRUG ACT

Penalties for Sale or Addition to Narcotics Range From Two Months to Three Years.

Federal Judge Faris today sentenced 12 persons to jail and penitentiary terms, ranging from two months to three years, for the sale of drugs or addition to drugs. One woman received a penitentiary sentence of 18 months as an addict. All 12 pleaded guilty. All are St. Louisans.

Myrtle Price and Joseph C. Chandler, the latter a negro, were each sentenced to three years in the penitentiary as addicts. Narcotic Inspector Tully said Moraine had served jail terms as an addict and that his home had been a rendezvous for addicts and peddlers. He said Chandler had served jail terms and a year in the penitentiary.

Harry Crain was sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary. Myrtle Price received the 18-month sentence for having cocaine in her possession. Judge Faris said he believed a severe sentence would be better for the woman than a shorter one.

Clarence Tillman and Dave Hall, negroes, were sentenced to two years and a day respectively for peddling drugs. Frank Waters and Henry Clark, negroes, were sentenced to four months in jail each, as addicts, and the following white men received sentences of two months each: Charles Davis, John Price and Harry Christian. Joseph McCauley was sentenced to three months in jail. He has already been in jail two months.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BED

Mrs. Nanna L. Watson, 55 years old, who has made her home for the past year with the family of Dr. Charles H. Pope, 2814 Lafayette avenue, was found dead in bed this morning, lying face down, with cotton, which had been saturated with chloroform, held to her nose.

Dr. Pope said he was sure her death was accidental, as she used the chloroform to inhale for the relief of neuralgia. He assumed that the fatal effect of the drug was due to her accidentally turning face down, excluding the air, which otherwise would have neutralized the effect.

Injured Say Caboose Being Backed, Carried No Light and That No Warning of Approach Was Given.

A woman was killed and another woman, a man, two boys and two small children were injured when a caboose, being backed through the South St. Louis railroad yards by a Missouri Pacific engine at 10:30 o'clock last night, struck them as they were crossing the tracks between Tesson and Davis streets.

The woman who lost her life was Mrs. Daisy Irvin, 22 years old, of 1369 South Tenth street. Her right arm and left leg were cut off and she received internal injuries. She died shortly after being taken to the city hospital.

Six Are Injured.

The injured are John Lee, 26, and his wife, Myrtle, 29, and their children, Carrie, 3 years old, and Frieda, 4 months old, 1869 South Tenth street, and Isaac Young, 16, and Louis Young, 18, brothers, of 701 Sidney street. Lee and his wife and Carrie have scalp wounds and internal injuries. The baby, who was being carried by Lee, was only slightly bruised. Part of Isaac Young's right arm was torn off and he received scalp wounds. Louis Young has a probable fracture of the right arm and internal injuries and cuts and bruises. The boys were taken from under the engine.

Two Large Concerns Grant 44-Hour Week — Pressmen in Another Demand That Rest of Shop Be Unionized.

Typographical Union No. 8, about half of whose members are not working because of the dispute with employers over the 44-hour week, has a strike fund of $60,000 which has been accumulated in the last six months by a special assessment of 2 per cent of the members' earnings, added to the surplus from the regular 2 per cent assessment for current expenses.

Beginning this week there will be an assessment of 10 per cent on all the members who are working. This will go to the general strike fund of the international organization and will absorb the special 2 per cent assessment of the last six months. After this week the men who are out will receive benefits from the international organization, $7 a week for single men and $10 a week for married men. To this will be added $4 to single men and $6 to married men from the local strike fund, making the total strike benefit $11 for single men and $16 for married men.

The other branches of the printing trades affected by the dispute also have funds and members who are out will receive benefits from their organizations.

There was no important change in the situation this morning. Secretary Combs of the Typographical Union said there had been no complete checking of the men who are obtaining signatures to the 44-hour agreement. There had been no additional desertions from the ranks of the "Forty-eighters," so far as he knew. He had received information, he said, that some of the firms that are obtaining signatures to the 44-hour agreement, Combs said that not a printer who quit work yesterday had gone back to work.

Secretary Combs said today that the Garrison-Wagner Printing Co. and the Interstate Printing Co., large concerns, have signed up for the 44-hour week.

Union pressmen of the Buxton-Skinner Printing Co., which has been open shop except in the pressroom, have notified the firm that they will not return to work unless the rest of the establishment is unionized.

About 150 men and women employed in exclusive binderies quit work today.

OYSTER ESTATE ONLY A SHELL

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A net valuation of approximately $87,000 was placed on the estate of George M. Oyster of this city by his executor yesterday in filing application for probate. Oyster was generally supposed to have been a millionaire and was so described in the time of his marriage recently to Cecile Ready Oyster, 26 years old. He was 72 years old when he died at Atlantic City soon after the marriage.

By a codicil executed on his death bed, Oyster provided a bequest of $25,000 for his widow in lieu of any other claim against the estate.

The executor, Edwin C. Brandenburg, informed the court that the net valuation on household effects and the decedent's interest in the Chestnut Farms Dairy in this city, was $148,000, while Oyster also left debts and unpaid taxes amounting to $61,000.

Should the widow elect to take her legal dower and renounce the bequest, the application said, she would be entitled to one-half of the personal property, and a life interest in one-third of the proceeds of the real property.

The boys were taken from under the engine.

They had been visiting Mrs. Alice Young, aunt of the Young boys, at the foot of Tesson street, and were returning to their homes. There is no crossing for four blocks along there. They were taking a short cut to Broadway across the right of way when they were run down. The caboose was being backed north by an engine driven by Jesse Carson, engineer. The injured say the caboose carried no light and no warning was given. Members of the crew say there was a signal light on the caboose and the locomotive bell was rung intermittently.

Stepped in Front of Caboose.

Special agents of the railroad who were called to the scene of the accident say that the members of the party stepped from the south-bound track to the northbound track to get out of the way of a passenger train, the roar of which in passing prevented them from hearing the approaching engine and caboose.

The injured, the agents say, are all English gypsies. They were taken to the tent of a private watchman and refused to receive medical attention until their parents had been called. These were brought in taxicabs and treatment then was given by physicians. The injured refused to go to a hospital and were taken to the home of Walter Smith, 2871 South Seventh street, and are still there.

J. A. KURTZ CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—Gov. Hyde yesterday afternoon changed his decision of Saturday to appoint Hugh McIndoe of Joplin chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission to succeed William G. Busby of Carrollton. The Governor directed that John A. Kurtz of Kansas City be designated chairman, and McIndoe a member of the commission.

Under appointment to succeed Busby, McIndoe's term would have ended in four years. Kurtz, who was appointed several months ago for a short term, which ended last month, receives the appointment to succeed Busby. McIndoe is appointed for the full six-year term to succeed Kurtz. The effect of the Governor's change of mind is to give McIndoe a six-year term instead of four, and Kurtz a four-year term instead of six, and to make Kurtz, instead of McIndoe, chairman.

FORMER BARROOM NOW AN ART GALLERY

Art League Opens Downtown Display Room on First Floor of Planters Hotel.

Art in St. Louis now has a place to sit down and hang up its hat, and to sip a friendly cup of tea.

The Art League's downtown exhibition galleries and art advancement headquarters, occupying the former Chestnut street barroom of the Planters Hotel and an adjoining place on the north, were opened to the public yesterday afternoon. The rooms are intended to remain as a permanent show place for the work of St. Louis artists, and meeting place for those appreciative of art. Members of the league and of various clubs and committees, attended the opening.

175 Works on Display.

About 175 works of St. Louis artists, including not only painting and sculpture, but works of applied art, are on display in the rooms. The exhibit will be changed, to a considerable extent, every two weeks. Nearly all the works displayed are for sale, and it is hoped, by maintaining the headquarters to show St. Louis purchasers that they can supply their wants in decorative and applied art without going out of the city.

Lunch tables will be provided in the rooms, and daily luncheon and 4 o'clock tea will be served, through arrangements with the hotel management, to members of the league and visitors interested in art. Special luncheons are planned for workers in various branches of art, at which they can meet those interested in their work.

Forty-six painters and eight sculptors are represented in the art display, a catalogue of which was furnished to guests at the opening ceremony. Striking features of the display are R. F. Bringham's "Fountain of Youth," and Harry Rubin's "Head of a Young Girl," in sculpture; and in painting, T. Kajiwara's "The Last Can," a portrait by Charles Galt; and "The Handmaid," by G. O. Carpenter.

Paper on Mexican Art Read.

Mrs. Lon O. Hocker, as chairman of the Art League's Reception Committee, presided at the opening exercises, and W. Frank Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce, read a paper on "Mexican Art," as he saw it in the chamber's recent tour to Mexico. He commented on the artistic richness of the ancient sculpture of Mexico, and the poverty of conception of Mexico's modern painters, as shown in the National Art Gallery, where, instead of pictures based on the history of Mexico and its remarkable scenic beauty, only paintings on religious subjects are to be seen.

Hector M. E. Pasmazoglu is chairman of the committee which selected and arranged for the new headquarters.

THREE CANDIDATES MENTIONED FOR ST. LOUIS POSTMASTERSHIP

Senator Spencer Says He Is Not Committed as to Successor to Selph.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Senator Spencer said today that he was "absolutely uncommitted" to any candidate for the St. Louis postmastership to succeed Postmaster Selph. He named Nat Goldstein and John Schmoll as among those who had been mentioned to him for the place. The only aspirant for the job who had written directly to him, he said, was George W. Davidson, an employee of the Postoffice.

Director of Public Welfare Schmoll several weeks ago became an announced candidate for Postmaster. Circuit Clerk Goldstein has assumed publicly a "Barkis is willing" attitude. When asked whether he was a candidate, he replied that he had made no application and had sent on no endorsements, but that if it was offered to him he would accept.

It is understood among St. Louis politicians that the effort of the local organization is being centered on Spencer for Goldstein, who has been his constant supporter.

Canal Just Dedicated Will Let In Ocean Craft Which River Sometimes Can't Carry.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, May 3.—Group sessions on foreign trade and the merchant marine are expected to feature today's meeting of the third annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Association.

Announcement has been made that data is being secured by the association showing the sentiments expressed by Congressmen on Mississippi Valley matters, particularly as to waterways development. The data will include not only publicly expressed sentiments, but a record of votes on measures dealing with water transportation introduced in Congress during recent years.

Friends of Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois are active in their advocacy of his election as president of the association to succeed Harry H. Merriek of Chicago. McKinley has telegraphed his regret that he is unable to attend. Selection of Memphis as the 1922 convention city is being urged by delegates from Tennessee.

The purpose of the New Orleans Industrial Canal and Inner Harbor, which was dedicated yesterday, is to permit the entrance of ocean-going ships into New Orleans through Lake Pontchartrain, which has a connection with the Gulf of Mexico, which permits the passage of craft of deep draft. The passage up the Mississippi is not always available for ships, and the delays to which they have hitherto been subjected will be done away with by the new canal.

CHAPTER XIX. Lack of American Program at Paris

IN view of the subsequent contest between the President and the opposition Senators over the treaty of Versailles, resulting in its nonratification and the consequent delay in the restoration of a state of peace between the United States and Germany, my failure at Paris in declining to follow the President may be open to criticism, if not to censure. But it can hardly be considered just to pass judgment on my conduct by what occurred after the signature of the treaty unless what would occur was a foregone conclusion, and at that time it was not even suggested that the treaty would fall of ratification. The decision had to be made under the conditions and expectations which then prevailed. Unquestionably there was on June 28, 1919, a common belief that the President would compose his differences with a sufficient number of the Republican Senators to obtain the necessary consent of two-thirds of the Senate to the ratification of the treaty, and that the delay in senatorial action would be brief. I personally believed that that would be the result, although Mr. Wilson's experience in Washington in February, and the rigid attitude, which he then assumed, might have been a warning as to the future. Seeing the situation as I did, no man would have been willing to imperil the President's position by resigning as Commissioner on the ground that he was opposed to the President's policies. A return to peace was at stake, and peace was the supreme need of all people. I could not conscientiously assume the responsibility of placing any obstacle in the way of a return to peace at the earliest possible moment. It would have been to do the very thing which I condemned in the President when he prevented an early signing of the peace by insisting on the acceptance of the covenant of the League of Nations as a condition precedent. Whatever the consequence of my action would have been, whether it resulted in delay or in defeat of ratification, I should have felt guilty of having prevented an immediate peace, which from the first seemed to me vitally important to all nations. Personal feelings and even personal beliefs were insufficient to excuse such action.

Incidents of Early Negotiations.
Having reviewed the radical differences between the President and myself in regard to the League of Nations and the inclusion of the covenant in the treaty of peace with Germany, it is necessary to revert to the early days of the negotiations at Paris in order to explain the divergence of our views as to the necessity of a definite program for the American Commission to direct its work and to guide its members in their intercourse with the delegates of other countries.

If the President had a program, other than the general principles and the few territorial settlements included in his 14 points, and the generalities contained in his "subsequent addresses," he did not show a copy of the program to the commissioners or advise them of its contents. The natural conclusion was that he had never worked out in detail the application of his announced principles or put into concrete form the specific settlements which he had declared ought to be in the terms of peace. The definition of the principles, the interpretation of the policies, and the detailing of the provisions regarding territorial settlements were not apparently attempted by Mr. Wilson. They were in large measure left uncertain by the phrases in which they were delivered. Without authoritative explanation, interpretation or application to actual facts they formed incomplete and inadequate instructions to commissioners who were authorized "to negotiate peace."

The definition of the principles, the interpretation of the policies, and the detailing of the provisions regarding territorial settlements were not apparently attempted by Mr. Wilson. They were in large measure left uncertain by the phrases in which they were delivered. Without authoritative explanation, interpretation or application to actual facts they formed incomplete and inadequate instructions to commissioners who were authorized "to negotiate peace."

It is hardly worth while to say that the 14 points and the four principles declared in the address of Feb. 11, 1918 (Appendix V, p. 317), do not constitute a sufficient program for negotiators. Manifestly they are too indefinite in specific application. They were never intended for that purpose when they were proclaimed. They might have formed a general basis for the preparation of instructions for peace commissioners, but they omitted too many of the essentials to be considered actual instructions, while the lack of definite terms to be included in a treaty further deprived them of that character. Such important and practical subjects as reparations, financial arrangements, the use and control of waterways, and other questions of a like nature, are not even mentioned. As a general statement of the bases of peace the fourteen points and subsequent declarations probably served a useful purpose, though some critics would deny it, but as a working program for the negotiation of a treaty they were inadequate, if not wholly useless.

Believing in the autumn of 1918 that the war was approaching an end, and assuming that the American plenipotentiaries to the Peace Conference would have to be furnished with detailed written instructions as to the terms of the treaty to be signed, I prepared, on Sept. 21, 1918, a memorandum of my views as to the territorial settlements which would form, not instructions, but a guide in the drafting of instructions for the American Commissioners. At the time I had no intimation that the President purposed to be present in person at the peace table and had not even thought of such a possibility. The memorandum, which followed, was written with the sole purpose of being ready to draft definite instructions which could be submitted to the President when the time came to prepare for the negotiation of the peace. The memorandum follows:

His Plan for the Peace.
"The present Russian situation, which is unspeakably horrible and which seems beyond present hope of betterment, presents new problems to be solved at the peace table."

"The Pan-Germans now have in shattered and impotent Russia the opportunity to develop an alternative or supplemental scheme to their 'Mittel-Europa' project. German domination over Southern Russia would offer as advantageous, if not a more advantageous, route to the Persian Gulf than through the turbulent Balkans and unreliable Turkey. If both routes, north and south of the Black Sea, could be controlled, the Pan-Germans would have gained more than they dreamed of obtaining. I believe, however, that Bulgaria fears the Germans and will be disposed to resist German domination possibly to the extent of making a separate peace with the Allies. Nevertheless, if the Germans could obtain the route north of the Black Sea, they would with reason consider the war a successful venture because it would give them the opportunity to rebuild the imperial power and to carry out the Prussian ambition of world-mastery. "The treaty of peace must not leave Germany in possession directly or indirectly of either of these routes to the Orient. There must be territorial barriers erected to prevent that Empire from ever being able by political or economic penetration to become dominant in those regions. "With this in view I would state

Hats of Summer Freshness

Are Presented at a Low Figure

$7.00

TO look her best, a woman must wear a Hat that brings out the beauty of hair, skin, eyes and contour. In Summer, especially, the Hat must give chic and freshness to her every costume.

A new array of airy chapeaux awaits you in our Millinery Salon. There are hundreds of models to choose from, all representing the best of the Summer styles. The price is exceptionally low for Hats of such style and quality.

Flower trimming adorns many Georgette models which are gay and becoming with Summer frocks. Taffeta, with its saucy flare, makes Sports Hats that are smart and tasteful. Ostrich feathers are used on the dressier types. There are hundreds to choose from, all well selected for the new season. (Third Floor.)

Wraps With an Air

Add Distinction to Summer Garb

$35 $45 $65 $95

YOUR Wrap is the first thing you put on when you leave home. Yet it is most important. Nobody knows just what sort of frock you are wearing. Everybody you meet judges your taste by the Coat you have on.

Whether you travel, or motor, or just walk out to the picture show, a chic Coat must cover the Summer frock you wear. We are offering very unusual values.

A smart Wrap from our new Summer stock will please the most fastidious woman. The semi-fitted models as well as the tailored types are shown in many different materials, of soft, lustrous beauty. The trimmings are as varied as the fabrics used for these garments. Most of these models are lined with silk throughout. All are cleverly designed and well finished.

A Sale of Handkerchiefs

18c Each

BEAUTIFUL, soft, sheer batiste, scalloped and embroidered in color; makes a handkerchief worthy of a much higher price than the one we are asking. Thousands have come to us in an advantageous purchase.

They are made in a style originated in Madeira but which has been cleverly copied by domestic manufacturers. New ideas of color embroidery have been introduced. Owing to the stagnant condition of the market and the fact that the manufacturer needed cash, they come to us at a price which is almost unbelievable for such lovely Handkerchiefs, but they are here and you may convince yourself of their unusual value.

(Main Floor.)

LANSING ASSERTS WILSON HAD NO SETTLEMENT PLAN

The essentials for a stable peace as follows, though I do so in the most tentative way because conditions may change materially. These essentials relate to territory and waters, and do not deal with military protection.

"First. The complete abrogation or denunciation of the Brest-Litovsk Treaty and all treaties relating in any way to Russian territory or commerce; and also the same action as to the Treaty of Bucharest. This applies to all treaties made by the German Empire or Germany's allies.

Baltic Provinces as Autonomous States.

"Second. The Baltic Provinces of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia should be autonomous states of a Russian Confederation.

"Third. Finland raises a different question and it should be carefully considered whether it should not be an independent state.

"Fourth. An independent Poland, composed of Polish provinces of Russia, Prussia and Austria, and in possession of the port of Danzig.

"Fifth. An independent state, either single or federal composed of Bohemia, Slovakia and Moravia (and possibly a portion of Silesia) and possessing an international right of way by land or water to a free port.

"Sixth. The Ukraine to be a state of the Russian Confederation, to which should be annexed that portion of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in which the Ruthenians predominate.

"Seventh. Rumania, in addition to her former territory, should ultimately be given sovereignty over Bessarabia, Transylvania and the upper portion of the Dobruja, leaving the central mouth of the Danube as the boundary of Bulgaria, or else the northern half. (As to the boundary there is doubt.)

"Eighth. The territories in which Jugo-Slavs predominate, namely Croatia, Slavonia, Dalmatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, should be united with Serbia, and Montenegro forming a single or a federal state.

The sovereignty over Trieste or some other port should be later settled in drawing a boundary line between the new state and Italy. My present view is that there should be a good Jugo-Slav port.

"Ninth. Hungary should be separated from Austria and possess rights of free navigation of the Danube.

"Tenth. Restoration to Italy of all the Italian provinces of Austria, Italy's territory to extend along the northern Adriatic shore to the Jugo-Slav boundary. Certain ports on the eastern side of the Adriatic should be considered as possible naval bases of Italy. (This last is doubtful.)

"Eleventh. Reduction of Austria to the ancient boundaries and title of the Archduchy of Austria. Incorporation of Archduchy in the Imperial German Confederation. Austrian outlet to the sea would be like that of Baden and Saxony through German ports on the North Sea and the Baltic.

His Plans for the Balkans.

"Twelfth. The boundaries of Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece to follow in general those established after the First Balkan War, though Bulgaria should surrender to Greece more of the Aegean coast and obtain the southern half only of the Dobruja (or else as far as the Danube) and the Turkish territory up to the district surrounding Constantinople, to be subsequently decided upon.

"Thirteenth. Albania to be under Italian or Serbian sovereignty or incorporated in the Jugo-Slav Confederation.

"Fourteenth. Greece too obtain more of the Aegean littoral at the expense of Bulgaria, the Greek-inhabited islands adjacent to Asia Minor and possibly certain ports and adjoining territory in Asia Minor.

"Fifteenth. The Ottoman Empire to be reduced to Anatolia and have no possessions in Europe. (This requires consideration.)

"Sixteenth. Constantinople to be erected into an international protectorate surrounded by a land zone to allow for expansion of population. The form of government to be determined upon by an international commission or by one Government acting as the mandatory of the Powers. The commission or mandatory state under the regulation and control of the navigation of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus as international waterways.

"Seventeenth. Armenia and Syria to be erected into protectorates of such Government or Governments as seems expedient from a domestic as well as an international point of view; the guaranty being that both countries will be given self-government as soon as possible and that an 'Open-Door' policy as to commerce and industrial development will be rigidly observed.

"Eighteenth. Palestine to be an autonomous state under a general international protectorate or under the protectorate of a Power designated to act as the mandatory of the Powers.

"Nineteenth. Arabia to receive careful consideration as to the full or partial sovereignty of the state or states established.

"Twentieth. Great Britain to have the sovereignty of Egypt, or a full protectorate over it.

"Twenty-first. Persia to be freed from all treaties establishing spheres of influence. Rigid application of the 'Open-Door' policy in regard to commercial and industrial development.

"Twenty-second. All Alsace-Lorraine to be restored to France without conditions.

"Twenty-third. Belgium to be restored to full sovereignty.

"Twenty-fourth. A consideration of the union of Luxembourg to Belgium. (This is open to question.)

"Twenty-fifth. The Kiel Canal to be internationalized and an international zone 20 miles from the Canal on either side to be erected which should be, with the Canal, under the control and regulation of Denmark as the mandatory of the Powers. (This last is doubtful.)

"Twenty-sixth. All land north of the Kiel Canal Zone to be ceded to Denmark.

"Twenty-seventh. The fortifications of the Kiel Canal and of Heligoland to be dismantled. Heligoland to be ceded to Denmark.

"Twenty-eighth. The sovereignty of the archipelago of Spitzbergen to be granted to Norway.

"Twenty-ninth. The disposition of the colonial possessions formerly belonging to Germany to be determined by an international commission having in mind the interests of the inhabitants and the possibility of employing the colonies as a means of indemnification for wrongs done. The 'open-door' policy should be guaranteed.

"While the foregoing definitive statement as to territory contains my views at the present time (Sept. 21, 1918), I feel that no proposition should be considered unalterable, as further study and conditions which have not been disclosed may materially change some of them.

"Three things must constantly be kept in mind: the natural stability of race, language, and nationality; the necessity of every nation having an outlet to the sea so that it may maintain its own merchant marine; and the imperative need of rendering Germany impotent as a military Power."

to her former territory, should ultimately be given sovereignty over Bessarabia, Transylvania and the upper portion of the Dobruja, leaving the central mouth of the Danube as the boundary of Bulgaria, or else the northern half. (As to the boundary there is doubt.)

State Dismisses Charges Against Tom Montgomery, John Maloney and Charles S. Barrington.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

UNION, Mo., May 2.—The State today dismissed the charges against three of the eight men who were indicted for the burglary of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of St. Clair, Mo., on Feb. 8 last. Prosecuting Attorney Fred Kasmann of Franklin County announced that the State's evidence against Charles S. Barrington, Tom Montgomery and John Maloney, all St. Louisans, was insufficient. These three men were then freed.

Robert (Cokey) Walsh, another of the eight men, was found guilty by a jury in Circuit Court here yesterday and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary. The jury deliberated 20 minutes. Walsh's mother, who was in the courtroom, fainted when the verdict was read.

Brown Sentenced to 40 Years.
Joseph Brown pleaded guilty yesterday before Walsh went to trial and Judge Breuer fixed his sentence at 40 years' imprisonment. Six weeks ago Emil (Feather-Edge) Schneider and George E. Ayers were sentenced by Juries to 40 and 35 years, respectively. Walter Casey's trial has been set for August 1. A continuance was granted him because of sickness. He is out on bond of $5000. Seven of the eight men are St. Louisans and Ayers is from Galveston, Tex.

The eight men were charged with the burglary of 25 safety deposit boxes from the St. Clair bank. The boxes contained $12,222 in bonds, stamps, cash and other valuables, all of which was recovered at "Fly's Rest," a Meramec River cabin near Pacific, Mo., where the men were arrested a few hours after the burglary.

Barrington Lost Forearm.
There was a mysterious explosion within as the Sheriff and his posse approached the cabin to arrest the men. This was found to have been an explosion of nitroglycerine in a bottle and its force blinded Barrington and blew off one of his forearms. He said that he was unaware of the presence of the bottle and stumbled over it. He was treated at the St. Louis city hospital and has been in custody at the county farm here since. His sight was partly restored. It was brought out that some of the men went to the cabin to obtain moonshine whiskey. A still was found on the grounds.

Brown and Walsh are in the Franklin County Jail here. Brown is to be taken to the penitentiary soon. Walsh's lawyer, former Circuit Attorney Michael of St. Louis, will ask for a new trial or appeal the case. Brown and Walsh are named in St. Clair County (Ill.) warrants as wanted for the murder of Perry Frost, an East St. Louis detective, on Nov. 14 last. Three other men were indicted in connection with Frost's death, are now on trial at Belleville, Ill.

Illinois May Ask Extradition of Two on Murder Charge.

Assistant State's Attorney Lindauer of Belleville said today that Gov. Hyde might be asked to allow the extradition of Brown and Walsh to stand trial on the Frost murder charge. He said this depended on the verdict against the three men now on trial. If they are given extreme sentences, he said, Illinois will seek to extradite Brown and Walsh.

HYDE TO URGE LOWER TAX RATE

Will Ask Legislature to Reduce Corporations Levy.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—Gov. Hyde today said that he would ask the special session of the Legislature to reduce the rate provided in the Missouri corporation tax law, which yesterday was declared valid by the Supreme Court of the United States in deciding the suit brought by the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway against State officials. The rate in the present statute is 1% on the $1000 of capital stock and surplus of corporations doing business in the State. The recent Legislature passed a bill lowering the rate to 75 cents on the $1000 and permitting the deduction of liabilities from capital and surplus, in defining what a corporation should pay. The Governor vetoed that bill, however.

MAN WHO SHOT SISTER AND HIMSELF IS DEAD

George Heller, Who Wounded
Mrs. Mary Lange at Hotel,
Succumbs at City Hospital.

George Heller, 57 years old, of 1320 South Broadway, died at the city hospital last night of a wound in the mouth inflicted when he shot himself after having shot his sister, Mrs. Mary Louise Lange, 51, in her room at the Roselle Hotel, 4145 Lindell boulevard, at 10:30 a. m. last Saturday.

A short time before Heller's death Mrs. Lange, still in a serious condition, was removed from the city hospital to St. Anthony's Hospital. She was shot in the head, the bullet entering behind her left ear.

After being shot Mrs. Lange told policemen her brother visited her at the hotel and demanded to know why she had sold a piece of real estate at Hodiamont and Plymouth avenues without his consent. When she replied that she did not care to discuss the transaction Heller shot her and himself. A hotel maid found them unconscious four hours after the shooting.

Mrs. Lange's husband, a grocer, died several years ago leaving valuable real estate. Heller had been managing the property for Mrs. Lange, but recently she sold some of it without consulting him.

Relatives said Heller had a nervous breakdown several months ago and had not been normal mentally since then.

TWO MEN FINED AND GIVEN JAIL TERMS IN LIQUOR CASES

Third Resident of Danville, Ill., Let Off With $100 Penalty—All Plead Guilty.

John R. Arnold of Danville, Ill., pleaded guilty in the Federal Court at East St. Louis yesterday to a charge of selling and possession of liquor in violation of the Volstead act, and was fined $200 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

About one month ago, while Arnold was delivering 10 gallons of liquor to a customer, he was held up and robbed of $350 and the liquor. The robber locked himself up in his home and drank until he became helplessly intoxicated. He is still in a hospital in Danville recovering from the effects of the liquor, federal officers say. It was through the robbery that the prohibition enforcement officers learned that Arnold was engaged in the liquor traffic.

Floyd Harrington of Danville was fined $300 and sentenced to four months in jail on a plea of guilty to violating the Volstead act by furnishing, possessing and selling liquor. E. S. Brown of Danville was fined $100 and costs for having one-half pint of some kind of liquor in his possession. The District Attorney said the liquor smelled like gin, and Brown was asked what it was. He replied that he didn't know, as he hadn't tasted it. He said the party who sold it to him simply conveyed the information that it was liquor with a "kick."

RECEIVES 12-YEAR SENTENCE FOR ROBBING WOMAN OF $275

Walter Snyder Identified by Mrs.
Mary Connolly, High Street
Storekeeper.

Walter Snyder, 35 years old, of 1540 California avenue, was convicted by a jury in Judge Hall's court yesterday of a charge of robbery in the first degree and sentenced to 12 years in the penitentiary.

Snyder and John E. Kennedy Jr., also of 1540 California avenue, were indicted for robbing Mrs. Mary Connolly of $275 and a pair of diamond earrings valued at $150 after beating her and binding her in her store at 802 North High street, Jan. 14. Kennedy was acquitted, by a jury April 8, as Mrs. Connolly had not been sure in her identification.

She was positive in her identification of Snyder. She testified he entered her store with another man, bought cigars and sat down at a table with a bottle of whisky. After demanding that she drink the man took her into a rear room and robbed her, she testified. Snyder did not testify but attempted to establish an alibi.

SAYS COOLIDGE USED
PRESSURE FOR SUBWAY

Massachusetts State Representative Names Former Governor in Testimony at Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, May 8.—Representative Abbott B. Rice of Newton yesterday charged that former Gov. Calvin Coolidge, now Vice President of the United States, and former Speaker Joseph E. Warner of the State House of Representatives, exerted pressure on legislators to effect passage of the Cambridge subway purchase bill in 1919. In a prepared statement read before the Joint Legislative Committee investigating alleged irregularities of the 1915 and 1919 law-making bodies, Rice said that Gov. Coolidge called opponents of the bill to his office and attempted to change their opinions on the measure. He asserted that the Governor said he knew very little about its merits, but had confidence in the men behind it.

At a caucus of Republican members, Rice continued, Warner characterized the bill as a party measure, and said that, right or wrong, they ought to vote for it, and later punished many House members who had voted against the measure by appointing them to less important committees. The witness added that a few days after the caucus the Ways and Means Committee voted to increase the pay of House members from $200 to $300 for the special session then in progress, preceding by 24 hours a rumor that passage of the act was assured.

Former Speaker Warner, in a statement, said:

"I am glad to share with former Gov. Coolidge the credit for the passage of this measure. I did believe and do believe that the purchase of that subway was the only solution of the transportation problem that would protect the public.

"The criticism of my committee appointments by Mr. Rice amuses me.

"The $300 compensation for members was reported unanimously by the Committee on Ways and Means, of which Mr. Rice was a member. I don't believe that he or any of his fellow members on that committee had any such motive as he now suggests."

ward have returned from a two months' trip to South America.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Brooks of 6306 Waterman avenue will sail May 12 from New York for Europe to be abroad two months.

Miss Alicia Hafner of 4511 West Pine boulevard returned Sunday from Chester, Ill., where she was the guest of Mrs. J. H. Rickman and Mrs. George Marshall Jones, who was Miss Fortia Rickman. Mrs. Jones will come to St. Louis later this month to visit Miss Hafner.

Mmes. H. L. and J. P. Dazey were hostesses this afternoon at a bridge party at the home of the latter, 738 Interdrive, in honor of Miss Margaret Dazey, whose marriage to H. Willis Draughon will take place June 2.

Miss Irene Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Goddard of Brentmoor, returned Sunday from Europe, where she spent several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Judge Sr., of 3464 Hawthorne boulevard, will take possession of their new home, 7301 Westmoreland drive, the middle of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Walker of Webster Groves have returned from a short visit to Boonville, Mo., where their son, Harold Walker, is a student at Kemper Military School.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. S. Cobb of the Buckingham Hotel and their daughter, Miss Ruth Cobb, will depart Thursday for New York to sail May 12 for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb will return in August and Miss Cobb will remain abroad until October.

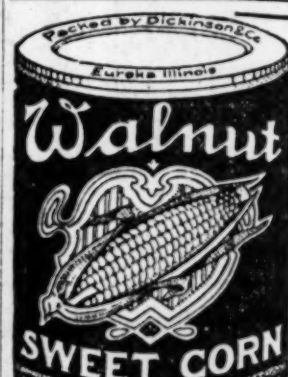

One of the largest affairs of the week was the annual bridge party at Glen Echo Club this afternoon given by the Visiting Nurses' Association.

Mrs. E. S. Healy of Webster Groves entertained with a luncheon yesterday at her home in honor of Mrs. C. W. S. Cobb.

Mrs. David R. Cathoun of St. Louis County is expected home tomorrow from New York, where she has been for two weeks.

SUIT FILED TO FORCE FIRM TO CHANGE NAME

Lambert Pharmacal Co. Alleges
It Has Been "Dunned" for Chemical Company's Bills.

A suit to enjoin the Lambert
Chemical Co., 400 North Third street, from continuing to use that name was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court by the Lambert Pharmacal
Co., 2101 Locust street.

W. H. Lambert, president of the chemical concern; his father, A. W.
Lambert, Sam B. Jeffries, John G.
Lonsdale, president of the National Bank of Commerce, A. R. Deacon and George A. Lindsay, who, it is alleged, organized the Lambert Chemical Co., Dec. 10, 1917, are named as defendants. The plaintiff also asks that defendants be required to turn over to the plaintiff any mail and all orders for business intended for the pharmaceutical company and which may have been received by the chemical company due to confusion from similarity of names.

The petition sets forth that the plaintiff's stock is owned by Albert
Bond Lambert, Marion Lambert,
Gerard B. Lambert, J. D. Wooster,
Lambert, Jordan W. Lambert, Barron P. Lambert, James W. Lambert and James T. Walker, all heirs of Mrs. Lily Lambert, whose husband, Jordan W. Lambert Sr., created the business. At the time of the organization of the defendant company, A.
W. Lambert and A. R. Deacon were trustees under the will of Mrs. Lambert and as such held the stock of her heirs; the petition states. They were also directors of the plaintiff corporation, and it was their duty, as such officers, the petition further states, to protect the name and business of the plaintiff.

The petition states that when the chemical company was formed Albert Bond Lambert, Marion Lambert, Gerard B. Lambert and J. D.
Wooster Lambert were in the service of their country away from St. Louis.
A. W. Lambert, who is a cousin of the Lily Lambert heirs, and A. R.
Deacon being the only directors of the pharmaceutical company who were in the city. The plan to organize a new company was not disclosed to the plaintiffs, and the owners of the old corporation discovered from other sources the existence of the new concern.

Last November the Lambert Chemical Co. was adjudicated a bankrupt in the United States District Court here, but, notwithstanding such bankruptcy, its officers are threatening to continue business under the old name, it is alleged. The phar-macal company, the petition continues, has been "dunned" for failure of the chemical concern to pay bills and tax officers of various states have complained to plaintiff of default in taxes by the chemical concern. It is alleged that the action of the new company in using a name so similar to that of the old established corporation is a fraud on the public, intending to give the impression that products of the new were products of the old. The plaintiff says that in the 50 years it has been in business it built up a valuable trade and spent large sums in advertising, and it should be permitted to enjoy the sole benefit of its industry.

MONTANA TOWN SWEEP BY FIRE

By the Associated Press.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 3.—
Wooden business buildings in Nel-hart, one of Montana's historic mining camps, burned yesterday with a loss estimated at $225,000. Judge George Roehl, one of the town's oldest residents, was burned to death.

The fire destroyed the concentrator of the Cascade silver mines and mills, the shaft house of the Queen of the Hills mine, two residences and the Frisco Hotel, a wooden structure, built in the early '90s by Judge Roehl. The hotel was closed as a hostelry last fall. Roehl, who was an invalid, occupied one room in it with his brother. The brother rushed to the street to get aid, but was prevented from returning by the flames.

OLD AT 40? IRON STARVATION

of the blood perhaps and your worn out, exhausted nerves need to be revitalized.

For this purpose there is nothing better than Organic Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of best instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over four million people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure your teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. At all drug stores.

67 INDICTMENTS BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

A. F. La Pierre Charged With Perjury—A. A. Oliver Accused in Train Robbery.

The March Federal grand jury, returning a list of 67 indictments this morning, did not present any indictment charging theft from freight cars. This class of offenses has been among the most numerous in the Federal Court. Prosecuting officials said, in explanation of the disappearance of this class of cases, that box-car thieves are now finding it safer and more profitable to engage in bootlegging.

The grand jury has been in session two weeks, and this was its first and partial report.

Mail Frauds Charged.
Indictments were returned against John B. Tift, also known as J. J. Mowry and Thomas J. Sheppard, charged with using the mails to defraud. Tift, whose name is said by the police to be Edward J. Murray, was arrested here, charged with attempting to defraud several St. Louis lawyers by fraudulent checks, in co-operation with the collection of an account in Oklahoma. He was identified by a bank president from Savannah, Ga., as a man who obtained $38,000 from two Savannah banks by pretending to be a member of the wealthy Tift family of Georgia. The banker related that, since the swindle was discovered, the matter had become a joke, and that at business men's gatherings someone would frequently hire a boy to page "Mr. John B. Tift."

Alfred A. Oliver was indicted on four counts for the robbery of a Missouri Pacific mail train Aug. 18 last. He is charged with assaulting a messenger and taking $35,000. This robbery was committed by two men shortly after the train, bound for Little Rock and Texarkana, left Tower Grove station. Five mail pouches were taken. Oliver is the only person held thus far for the robbery. He was an airbrake inspector for the Terminal Association. It is charged that two platinum ring mountings, a part of the stolen property, were found in his possession.

A. F. La Pierre Indicted.
Arthur F. La Pierre was indicted on charges of perjury, in connection with his application for passports and his application for naturalization. La Pierre was president of the Lyre-Ola Manufacturing Co., which manufactured phonograph cabinets, and the company's bankruptcy case is now pending before Referee Coles. He disappeared while the bankruptcy case was in progress, and is believed to have gone to Italy.

Arthur Bennett Smith, former money clerk of the American Railway Express Co., was indicted on four counts, relating to the theft of four $1000 Liberty Bonds, in transit through the St. Louis offices. He was arrested last November in a remote town in Washington, near the border of British Columbia, in company with a young woman whom he had married in Spokane, after a flight from St. Louis to the Grand Canyon of Arizona and the Pacific Coast.

William P. Katz and Ralph E. Foster were indicted on charges of devising a scheme and using the mails to defraud trappers and shippers of furs. This charge resulted from circulars sent out offering a price for furs higher than that which then prevailed. At that time large fur concerns were advising trappers not to trap and ship furs until the market should improve. Trustees were appointed to sell the large stock of furs accumulated by Katz, under the name of Wood Bros. Fur Co.

DEMURRER OF CITY TO SUIT OF SERVICE CAR OPERATORS DENIED

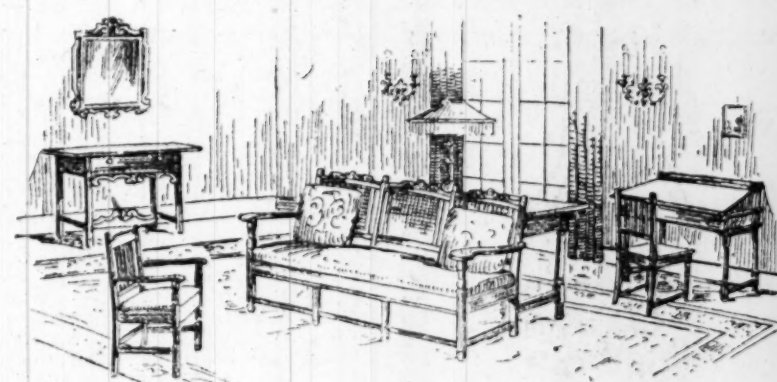

A demurrer of the city to the suit of 65 service car operators, who are attacking the validity of an ordinance passed last January imposing a license of $10 a year and other restrictions upon them, was denied today by Circuit Judge Ferriss, who declared that he had grave doubts of the validity of some of the provisions and would hear the case on its merits. The city's demurrer had asked for judgment on the pleadings. The judge said that he did not perceive at this time whether invalid sections, if present, could be separated from the body of the ordinance.

A. M. Frumberg, attorney for the service car drivers, is contending that the license is double taxation and hence unconstitutional, that the levying of a fee in connection with the license is unconstitutional, and that certain provisions, such as compelling service car drivers to pass physical examinations and provide photographs of themselves for record, is class legislation.

Why That Bad Back?

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

and neglecting proper rest and exercise. Your kidneys have slowed up and poisons that well kidneys should have filtered off, have accumulated in your system. That, then, is the cause of that nerve-racking backache, those piercing pains and annoying headaches, dizzy spells and bladder irregularities. Help the kidneys before the trouble gets worse. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

These are St. Louis Cases:

Shenandoah Avenue

Mrs. Veronica Larrien, 2650 Shenandoah av., says: "I was in a bad condition with my kidneys. My back was lame and sore at times and there seemed to be a heavy, dull ache across my kidneys. Dizzy spells made me feel sick all over and my kidneys acted too often. A friend told me to use Doan's Kidney Pills, and four boxes from Kelfer's Drug Store cured me. I give Doan's the credit and keep them in the house to use as a preventive, and they keep my kidneys in a healthy condition."

Easton Avenue

John Neuroth, contractor and builder, 4025A Easton av., says: "Occasionally I take a heavy lift while working, and I think it is the cause of bringing on attacks of backache, especially when my kidneys don't act as they should. I resort to Doan's Kidney Pills at these times and it don't take them long to straighten me up. I am glad to say I have had no further need to take a medicine of any kind for some time, not since I used the last box of Doan's. I believe they have cured me."

Bates Street

Mrs. Chas. C. Fink, 4216 Bates st., says: "Several years ago a cold settled in my kidneys and disordered them. When I was doing my housework, such as sweeping, I would have sharp pains catch me in my back just over my kidneys. After using a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was cured, so that I have not been bothered since. I am in good health all the time and I can recommend Doan's to anyone that is bothered in any way with their kidneys."

South Eleventh Street

Louis Kapp, 2409 S. Eleventh st., says: "My back ached severely and oftentimes my work was difficult for me. I couldn't rest and could hardly turn over in bed without help. In the morning I was tired and lame and to stoop sent sharp twinges through my kidneys and loins. I tried other remedies and plasters, but Doan's Kidney Pills did me more good than anything. I could get a short use of Doan's restored my kidneys to a healthy condition and the backache went away."

MANUFACTURING CALLED ST. LOUIS' ONE NEED

Saunders Norvell Says Factories Will Bring 10 Times Population Jobbing Houses Will.

Saunders Norvell, former St. Louis hardware jobber, now chairman of the board of directors of the New York drug firm of McKesson & Robbins, speaking to the Sales Managers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon at Hotel Statler yesterday, said:

"What does St. Louis need? St. Louis needs one thing—manufacturing. St. Louis is a great jobbing center now. When you job $1000 worth of hardware you give work to 10 men. But when you manufacture $1000 worth of hardware you are giving work to 100 men. In other words, manufacturing industries will bring in 10 times the population that jobbing houses will."

"Every jobber should start a manufacturing department, even if he does it in a small way. In the basement. Make something that you sell. It will grow. My firm in New York started as a jobbing house, and built up its manufacturing end until today 80 per cent of its business is manufacturing."

"Twenty-five thousand salesmen, by the best estimate I have been able to get, represent St. Louis on the road. If they see four dealers a day each there are 100,000 dealers a day to whom St. Louis goods are presented. St. Louis as a city should be sold to them also."

"People in the East say, 'St. Louis has some of the finest people in the world, but, Lord, how hot it is there!'"

"Is St. Louis any hotter than New York? I question it. Is it hotter than other large cities? If I lived here I would have a research and get out a pamphlet on city climate. The big freeze you had here at Easter might come into the discussion. Tell people how cold St. Louis is, if necessary, to get that 'hot' stuff out of their minds."

Norvell, looking over the gathering of sales managers, remarked that he believed he had "hired or fired" one-half the men in the room. He asked whether his hearers wanted him to tell anecdotes or talk principles. They replied that they would prefer the latter. However, he began with a story, about a man who took a drink of moonshine whiskey on a train, closing his eyes as he did so. When he opened his eyes, the train had entered a tunnel, and the man shouted, "My God! It's wood alcohol!"

"I spoke before Thomas A. Edison's salesmen in Newark, recently," Norvell said, "and when I had a talk with Mr. Edison afterward, he said, 'Inventing is easy—there's nothing to it. Manufacturing is easy. Selling the stuff—that's the science. I'm more interested in selling than in either inventing or manufacturing.'"

"Our rule for salesmen here used to be, 'Pass on the current; don't ground the wire.' Two things ground the current—jealousy and the big head. These keep new talent from coming up, and cause businesses to stagnate."

"Draw out your salesmen; ask questions. As E. C. Simmons used to say, men have been put in jail for making statements, but not for asking questions. I have sent questionnaires to salesmen, and on the basis of their replies have persuaded boards of directors to abandon some plan they had formed, which would have been inadvisable in view of the actual conditions as the salesmen knew them."

"Ask questions; it will get you out of your preconceived ideas, which are often only half right. I failed to sell a man in Indiana once, because I had been informed that he was an elder in the church and went at him on that basis. What I had not learned, and what I should have known, was that he was one of the best poker players in Indiana."

"My secret of selling new stocks to dealers is worth $50,000; I will give it to you. The man starting in with a $5000 line starts in with one idea—price. He has heard that goods will

"GUARANTEED FOR 5 YEARS"

Maintenance Cost is Cut in Half
When You Own a Sturdy "WHITE LILY"

MANY Washing Machine owners don't realize that if all parts of the machine are easily reached, the up-keep is reduced to about one-half.

"White Lily" Washers are so made that every part (although covered to avoid danger) is accessible in a moment's time. When every "White Lily" part is so easy to reach, it is lubricated often, reducing wear. Repairs, although not often needed, can be made quickly and economically.

"White Lily" Electric Washers are built like a bridge, but when one part does wear out in course of years of wear, it can be quickly and economically replaced. Hundreds of these superb washers are running without having been repaired for more than 10 years.

Advantages of the "White Lily" De Luxe Washer

With the exception of the cylinder in which the clothes are washed, the White Lily De Luxe is an all-metal washer. Built like a bridge, the metal frame will retain its correct alignment, which insures perfect operation of all moving parts. The metal tub is made in either galvanized iron or copper, conceded the best because of its superiorly over other materials. Rinsed well and wiped with cloth will keep in good condition.

"White Lily" Washers outlast the life of any part and the motors are St. Louis Emerson make, with a 5-year guarantee. We have never had to replace one of these wonderful motors during the past 11 years that we have handled the "White Lily."

When you buy a Washing Machine buy one that will last a lifetime, viz.: "The White Lily."

See it demonstrated at any of the enterprising dealers whose names and locations form a border for this advertisement.

NATIONAL AND FALSTAFF CAFES ON SIXTH STREET CLOSE DOORS

Liquor Charges Pending Against Proprietors of Both—One to Operate Road House.

The National Cafe, 117 North Sixth street, and the Falstaff Cafe, 11 North Sixth street, former resorts of police characters and women, closed their doors yesterday and have gone out of business.

Charles Connors, proprietor of the National Cafe, has opened a resort known as The Maples, on Manchester Road, west of the River Des Peres, in St. Louis County, and has issued circulars announcing that he will serve fried chicken dinners there and operate the place as a roadhouse. Charges of Federal liquor law violations are pending against him.

Jacob Cohen, who was proprietor of the Falstaff, also operates the Cumberland bar at Seventh and Market streets. He and his bartender have been fined on liquor law violation charges.

BOND JUMPER HELD IN OHIO

A telegram from Portsmouth, O., today informed the police of the arrest there of Edward Lester, who jumped a $4500 bond in St. Louis last August after being arrested on charges of grand larceny, carrying concealed weapons and having burglar tools in his possession.

Lester was one of two men arrested in a stolen automobile at Florissant and Prairie avenues the night of Aug. 17. Robert Lewis, who attempted to escape, was shot and killed by a policeman. Lee McEwan, arrested with Lester, was sent to the workhouse and escaped from there Dec. 17 last. Walter Kelly, Lester's bondman, had offered a $200 reward for his arrest.

Man Ends Life With Poison.

Fred J. Erne, 37 years old, who had lived in the rear of a grocery store at 3130 North Jefferson avenue, drank poison in the rear of the store last night after remarking to his brother, Daniel, of 5647 Spaulding avenue, "Well, Dan, this is my last drink." He drained a bottle before his brother could stop him, and was dead when doctors were called. Daniel told the police his brother was despondent because he had been out of employment.

MANUFACTURING CALLED ST. LOUIS' ONE NEED

bought are half sold. That is not true.

"If I can show such a man that 25 per cent of the line he will buy is controlled in price by the manufacturer, and that 25 per cent more is jobbers' special brands, at a fixed price; and that 25 per cent more is in lines where it would take experts months to figure out a standard of prices; and that 25 per cent more is all in which the buying price really counts. Then I tell the man that if he will give me his order for the 75 per cent I will sell him the 25 per cent as cheap as anyone, and furthermore, that I will not sell him anything that he can't sell, and that if he has anything left at the end of a year he can return it to me. I have made that agreement with many men and never had an ounce come back.

"Never argue. Never bet a man is wrong, or call him a liar. If he insists on telling you something, say 'quite remarkable,' or something of that sort.

"Buy slow, sell fast. The salesman should be an optimist, with a fine digestion. The buyer should be a dyspeptic.

"Read the Bible. There is no such manual of commercial wisdom in the world. Read First Samuel, twelfth chapter, for an example of a man who wasn't afraid to talk about himself.

"Read Plato—it beats the movies. I read, the other night, where Plato was at a banquet, and how it was the rule there that each man should praise the man at his right. Socrates came in, loaded, and said, 'Pass me the amphora with some of that juice in it.' And when it came Socrates' turn to praise the man on his right he made such a beautiful job of it that the man said, 'I am ready to die—I have been praised by Socrates.' Learn to praise the other fellow once in a while.

"There are two kinds of valuable salesmen—those who can work established customers, avoid mistakes and make themselves valuable by faithful service, and those who can get new accounts. When you find a man who can get accounts, don't keep him on the other kind of work. Push the successes among your men. Drop the failures—give them a chance to get another place, but don't keep them indefinitely. If a bookkeeper is trying to be a salesman, put him back on the books. I am always suspicious of an order that is written up too nicely."

After the Day's Work and Worries ~ Deep, Sound Sleep

"CUTTING down on sleep" might not be so bad if a man could be sure of getting good, sound sleep when he does get to bed.

The work or worries that kept him up, make it all the more imperative that his bed shall invite every nerve and muscle to relax into deep, natural sleep.

That means a Simmons Bed—firm, steady, noiseless, Built for Sleep—free from the squeak and jar of the old-style metal and wooden beds.

When you get your Simmons Beds, get Twin Beds for every room in the house occupied by two persons. One sleeper does not disturb the other or communicate colds or other infections.

STATE AND CITY WIN $77,419 TAX SUIT

Right of Missouri to Levy on Eads Bridge Steel Car Franchise Upheld.

The right of the State of Missouri and St. Louis to tax the franchise rights of the St. Louis and East St. Louis Electric Railway, operating over Eads bridge, was upheld yesterday by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, under which taxes amounting to $77,419.72 will be collected, plus interest at the rate of 3 per cent a month from the date of each annual tax bill, the first one being 1906.

The tax, interest and attorneys fees which must be paid by the company will amount to approximately $150,000, it was stated today at the City Collector's office.

The first assessment against the company was by James Hagerman, Collector in 1906. The company had only one-third mile of track in Missouri. The assessed valuation of its property in the State was fixed by the State Board of Equalization at $186,019, of which $173,000 was from intangible property.

Contending that its intangible property was a franchise to conduct interstate traffic, the company refused to pay the tax. Hagerman sued and was upheld by Judge Kinsey in the Circuit Court in St. Louis, and by an opinion of the Missouri Supreme Court. The company appealed to the United States Supreme Court on the ground that its right to do interstate business was not a proper subject of State taxation.

Justice Clarke, in the opinion of the court, said that its exclusive right to operate a street railway over Eads bridge and its contract with the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway on a percentage operating agreement enabled it to capitalize at $1,000,000, of which $500,000 was in bonds and $500,000 in stock, on which it earned 3 per cent annually.

BOY, 16, HELD FOR THEFT OF $772,000 BONDS, TESTIFIES

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 3.—William Dalton, 16-year-old bank clerk charged with the theft of $772,000 bonds from the Northern Trust Co., testified in his own behalf in Criminal Court yesterday.

"I handled so many bonds," Dalton said in reply to questions, "that I could think of nothing but bonds, bonds, bonds."

"Asleep or awake, I was thinking of bonds, even when I was away from the bank," asked whether he had heard of the "Ottawa case," when Federal Judge Landis sentenced Francis Carey to a Federal reformatory for taking nearly $100,000 from a bank, Dalton answered in the affirmative.

NEGRO GETS YEAR IN JAIL FOR KILLING SHOE SHOP OWNER

Testifies He Took Knife Away From Joseph Cirio, Who Was Attacking Him, and Stabbed the Man.
William Richardson, 49 years old, a negro, of 2030 O'Fallon street, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Hartmann's court yesterday of a charge of manslaughter and sentenced to a year in the city jail.

Richardson was charged with second degree murder for stabbing Joseph Cirio, 35, proprietor of a shoe repair shop at 1633 Franklin avenue, March 31, 1920. Cirio died at the city hospital several hours after the stabbing. The negro testified that he argued over the price of repairing shoes and Cirio attacked him with a shoe knife. He took the knife away from Cirio and stabbed him in self-defense, he testified.

After his arrest Richardson told the police he picked up the knife from a bench when Cirio struck him with a tool.
The habitual criminal act was invoked in the indictment of Richardson, who has served a seven-year prison term.

TEXT OF IRISH PARLIAMENT'S ADDRESS TO THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS

APPEAL FOR 'SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT' AS PRESENTED IN THE SENATE BY BORAH

History of Long Struggle for Self-Government and Chronicle of Alleged Abuses Under British Rule Are Given.

The case of Ireland, in her struggle for freedom from British rule, as drawn up by the Irish Republican Parliament for presentation to the Congress of the United States, together with supporting appendices, which was presented in the Senate yesterday by Senator Borah, has been given out for publication by Frank P. Walsh, counsel in the United States for "The Republic of Ireland." The Post-Dispatch prints today the address and supporting arguments.

THE following is the address of the Dail Eireann (the Irish Parliament), adopted at the January session of the Dail Eireann, 1912, to the Congress of the United States:

"To the elected Representatives of the People of the United States of America:

"We, the elected representatives of Ireland, recognizing in you the elected representatives in Congress of the people of the United States of America, our brethren in the common effort to hasten the day when the nations may dwell together in justice and in harmony, have the honor to greet and address you.

"1. We feel certain that the struggle of our people—the people of Ireland—against the aggression of England is not passing unobserved by you. We covet your esteem as we would value your sympathy and support, and fearful lest you be misled by the widespread, persistent and insidious propaganda of falsehood through which England seeks to create prejudice against us—distorting the character of the contest, we hasten to lay before you facts, so that, correctly informed, you may be able to judge justly.

"2. The nation which we represent enjoyed for over a thousand years the life of an independent sovereign state among the states of Europe. Then a neighboring nation—England—which had received the benefits of civilization and education first from our hands, lost to gratitude and honor and burning with lust for our possessions, burst in upon us as a conscienceless invader. England—through the course of many generations strove to subvert our polity, annihilate our language and our culture, suppress our industry, ruin our agriculture, steal our trade and our commerce, deprive us of the advantages of our geographical position, cut us off from our ancient intercourse with other peoples, rob our revenues and erase our name from the roll of nations.

"3. Failing to achieve these ends, this nation entered into solemn treaties acknowledging our national independence and contracting to respect it for all time, but this meant merely until our national defenses were dismantled. Then, as if by magic, the compact was treated as scraps of paper and the compact treacherously and bloodily violated.

"4. All the resources of a powerful and ruthless tyranny have been employed since in a desperate attempt to utterly destroy us as a nation. In the course of little over a century we have been robbed of wealth amounting to an empire's ransom, whilst within living memory a population of eight and a half millions, with the normal rate of increase, would have given us today a population of some seventeen millions, has been reduced by enemy acts to four millions—a crime unique among civilized nations. Our island is surpassingly fertile, generously endowed by nature with every advantage and facility for industry, for trade and for commerce, capable of supporting in happiness and prosperity twenty millions of souls—yet only last year it was publicly declared by the official head of the usurping English Government that it was the considered policy of that Government to banish from our country the young and strong, the flower of the four millions that yet remain.

"5. The Irish people have consistently resisted this infamous tyranny to the utmost of their power. Almost every generation has witnessed at least one armed uprising, and when the people were too weak to resist in arms they never ceased to make clear their hatred of the rule of the foreigner. Their oppressors' declarations that the national sentiment of Ireland is guilty of 'disobedience' to English rule has been a constant acknowledgment of this attitude. The attitude and the desire of the present generation has been made manifest beyond question.

"6. On Dec. 14, 1918, mindful of the principles proclaimed by the Government of England during the great war and seeing in the application of these principles a ready and a just means of arriving at a peaceful and final settlement of their own century-long struggle, the Irish people declared by an overwhelming majority at the polls for an independent Irish republic.

"7. Acting on the mandate thus expressly given by this national together from every corner of Britain and operating with the whole British army in their rear as a cover and a protection, they were left alone upon an unarmed and defenseless populace.

"Towns Sacked and Burned."

"14. An orgy of murder and robbery began. Neither age nor sex nor profession was respected. Old men of 80 and little children of 8, sick and crippled boys, mothers and wives, even anointed ministers of God, were indiscriminately murdered—the breadwinner before the eyes of his family and the mother with the child at her breast at the cottage door. Houses, offices, workshops, factories and creameries were plundered and destroyed. Towns and villages were sacked and burned down. The home of the farmer and the home of the artisan, the shop, the store, the office were looted and given to the flames.

"15. Whole districts were devastated and the produce destroyed in the hope of famishing the population. Individual citizens were held up at the point of the revolver or bayonet and robbed on the public streets, and while these outrages were being perpetrated every act of self defense on the part of the victims was advertised by propaganda as a crime, and the murderers and robbers proclaimed champions of law and order.

"Abominations Continue."

"16. The present moment these abominations continue unabated. The English Government's falls are being filled with our countrymen, some of whom have been murdered therein, and others put to the torture. New capital offenses are being created. The simple possession of firearms is a charge on which several Irishmen have been executed. Prominent citizens are carried as hostages by English troops in their military expeditions against our people, and their lives forfeited if they do not comply with their traveling unit with which they are traveling.

"National Self-Determination."

"8. This legitimate application of the principle of national self-determination, this peaceful and orderly exercise of their moral and democratic right by the Irish people was met by the British Government with an immediate and murderous exercise of brutal force. Troops and engines of destruction that for four years had been engaged on the continent of Europe in the cause of the rights of small nations, it was said, and the fundamental principles of democracy, were rushed to Ireland and used to trample on those very rights and to strangle that very principle in the name of which they had been enrolled and employed. The rights of small nations, it was said, and the fundamental principles of democracy, were rushed to Ireland and used to trample on those very rights and to strangle that very principle in the name of which they had been enrolled and employed.

"9. The reign of intensified military terrorism that was thus instituted, although rigorously persisted in, did not intimidate the voters at the ensuing municipal and rural elections for local governing bodies. The hatred and the rage against England, systematically by day and by night, individual electors were murdered by bayonet and bullet, men were taken by the thousands and dragged off to English jails, the fears of the women and children were mercilessly played upon, the papers gagged. The year, instead of weakening, increased the strength of the Irish people's determination and the republican representation showed an increase of 15 per cent on the previous elections though the system of terror and the English troops had been applied with the express design of reducing it.

"10. To this further peaceful and constitutional action on our part, the foreign usurping Government replied with a still fiercer and more vicious terrorism.

"Public Assembly Abolished."

"11. The national, political, cultural and industrial associations of the people were proscribed, and membership deemed a crime. The right of public assembly was abolished and the papers gagged. The elected representatives of the nation were declared a criminal body. All of their number with two exceptions were seized from time to time and imprisoned in English jails where two have already met their deaths.

"12. For over two years the people of Ireland bore patiently these ever increasing burdens and persecutions without committing a single act of violence, either in self defense or in reprisal. In that period, thousands were torn from their homes and cast into prison, many died as a result of prison treatment, and seven unarmed citizens were wilfully murdered by armed agents of the English Government, which openly incited the murders and encouraged the murderers with rewards and promotion.

"Patience Became Exhausted."

"13. But this patience of the people at last became exhausted. Abandoned, as it seemed, by the world they turned to defend themselves as best they could. The British Government then put aside every restraint of civilization and deliberately resorted to proceed with the record for life or property. So vile was the policy projected that their regular troops could not be relied upon to carry it out. The ex-convict from the jails, however, and the degenerate back from the trenches, in whose breast the savagery of the late war had extinguished the last sparks of humanity, could be depended upon to have few qualms in dealing with their victims, and to cause little embarrassment to those in high authority amongst their employers by any nice regard for nominal discipline. A special force of these fiends was accordingly embodied. Allured by the prospect of an easy prey and unlimited loot, they were gathered

Claims of the Irish Republicans as Set Out in Appeal to the U. S.

THE Irish people claim no more than their right as a nation to determine freely for themselves how they shall be governed. "We, their official spokesmen—their elected parliament and Government—call mankind to witness that our people have ever been ready to welcome peace with England on that just basis. "On no other basis is peace possible. We shall not surrender our national right—nor will we force upon us. "Our cause is the common cause of humankind. To that cause we have pledged ourselves and our people to remain faithful unto death. "You, the representatives of a sister nation, cannot, we feel, be insensible to the issue."

3 1/2 to 1 over those in favor of union with England.

"Of the total popular vote of 1,519,894, only 311,210, that is a bare 20 per cent, were cast for union with England."

"In the Province of Leinster of its twenty-seven members every one elected with one exception—and he by a majority of only 54 votes in a poll of 14,766—was a Republican."

"In the Province of Connaught of its 13 members, every one elected was a Republican."

"Election Result in Ulster."

"In the province of Ulster, of its 37 members, 20 were official Unionists and 17 Independent Unionists. The remaining 16 opposed the connection with England, 10 being Republicans and five Parliamentary Nationalists and six self-determinationists."

"Ireland is divided into 32 counties."

"In not one of these counties did the Unionists secure the entire representation. In only four did they poll a majority. "On the other hand, the Republicans who polled a majority in 27 counties secured the entire representation in 24."

"Of the six Irish boroughs not one returned an entirely Unionist representation. In only one of the six is the Unionist representation a majority, whereas four of the Irish boroughs returned an entirely Republican representation."

"Strength of Unionists."

"The province of Ulster, the attitude of which is so much misrepresented by English propaganda, has nine counties. In five of these counties the Republicans and Self-determinationists combined polled a majority; in three they secured the entire representation."

"Ready for Peace When Free."

"18. The Irish people claim no more than their right as a nation to determine freely for themselves how they shall be governed. We, their official spokesmen—their elected Parliament and Government, call mankind to witness that our people have ever been ready to welcome peace with England on that just basis."

"19. On no other basis is peace possible. We shall not surrender our national right—nor will we force upon us."

"Our cause is the common cause of humankind. To that cause we have pledged ourselves and our people to remain faithful unto death."

"You, the representatives of a sister nation, cannot, we feel, be insensible to the issue."

"Adopted at the January session of Dail Eireann, 1921."

Signatures to Address.

"Signed: Eamon de Valera, President, Deputy for East Clare and East Mayo."

"The signatures of the Deputies in the Irish Parliament follow that of de Valera."

Appendices Included.

"With the address are included 'Appendices,' with the assertion, 'Every assertion in the foregoing address is founded upon facts. The following appendices are intended to cover the more vital.'

"The appendices, in part, follow: "Democratic foundation of the republic—the National plebiscite: "In December, 1918, a general election for parliamentary candidates was held in every constituency in Ireland. The result of that election was that:

"Of the total 101 representatives elected on the popular franchise (that is, excluding the privileged and duplicated University vote). There were four university seats: The National University returned 3 Unionists; the Dublin University returned 3 Unionists; the University of Limerick returned 1 Unionist; the University of Cork returned 1 Unionist."

"The Republicans secured 72."

"The Irish Parliamentary party who were self-determinationists and did not oppose the idea of a republic as such, but deemed it at the moment unattainable, secured six."

"The official Unionists secured 21."

"The Independent Unionists secured two."

"Thus the Republican representatives won in a majority of 2 1/2 to 1 over all other parties."

"The self-determinationists (Republicans and Parliamentarians) secured a majority of nearly nations under their oppressors, her present population would be about four times what it is. Had Ireland fared as well as Austria Poland under the Hapsburgs, for example, her population in 1913 would have been not 4,379,076, but 15,257,888. "The destruction of Ireland's population is even greater than the above would show, for, with the exception of Holland, the birth rate in Ireland is the highest in Europe, as is proved by the following table issued in the year 1910 by the Statistical Department of the Government of Bavaria:

"The Birth Rate."

March 31, 1916.....17,029,000

March 31, 1917.....23,769,500

March 31, 1918.....20,865,000

Deduct 6 years' taxation at 1914 rate, 111,134,500.....66,807,000

Capital Loss in Population.

"One aspect of the depopulation of Ireland during the past half century is that it represents a loss in capital of at least $3,152,500,000."

"The increase in Irish population from 1821 to 1841 is:

1821.....6,801,827

1831.....7,767,401

1841.....8,175,124

"On the basis of this rate of increase the present population of Ireland should be 17,000,000."

"The actual decrease in Ireland's population between 1845 and 1911 is $3,152,000."

"The real loss in population is 12,610,000."

"This represents a capital loss in money (at $250 per head) of $3,152,500,000."

Loss in Absentee Rents.

"Ireland has paid in rents to absentee landlords, mostly resident in England, a sum calculated at not less than $1,000,000,000."

"This sum raised in Ireland and spent outside of Ireland has been a dead loss to the country."

"If we add these various sums together:

Overtaxation at two and three-quarter millions per year for 120 years (capital sum only).....330,000,000

Capital loss in population.....3,152,500,000

Absentee rents.....1,000,000,000

Total.....4,482,500,000

"We thus find that English domination has cost Ireland during the past 120 years the almost incredible sum of $4,482,500,000."

"The entire German war indemnity of $11,300,000,000, payable in 42 years, is calculated to have a present value of $4,032,857,036."

"It is thus clear that England during the past 120 years has robbed Ireland, a small country of 32,000 square miles and a population of some 4,000,000, of a sum exceeding $500,000,000, the present value of the entire indemnity which the conference of the Entente allies decided to exact from Germany, a sum which the whole area of Ireland in 1911 nineteen (19) of these Judges had the same report to make. Yet during these two years English people and soldiers carried on a constant and consistent campaign of aggression to provoke the people into retaliation. Public meetings of the people were suppressed or dispersed by batons or bayonets. There were 44 people arrested for political offenses, over 100 civilians were tried by court-martial, 1242 men and women were given savage sentences—as many as five years' penal servitude being inflicted for the reading of a Sinn Fein manifesto—115 leaders of Nationalist opinion were deported to English jails on charges or trial, 15 Nationalist papers were suppressed, six men died as a result of prison treatment, and seven men were brutally murdered by English soldiers and police. The murderers were not only unpunished, but were selected for promotion in the service of their employers."

List of Alleged Atrocities.

Here follows a list of Irish towns and villages alleged to have been ravaged by English troops from Sept. 9, 1919, to Feb. 28, 1920.

Another list is given of "270 Irish citizens murdered by the English forces in Ireland during the period Jan. 1, 1920, to Feb. 28, 1921, alone."

It is explained that "this list does not include any casualties sustained by the forces of the Irish Republican army in action. It includes only the Irish citizens who were deliberately assassinated by special bands of murderers employed by the English Government or who were wantonly shot down or bayoneted whilst walking on the streets or employed in their work."

The report continues:

"Official Military Murders."

"During this period also the British Government, whose authority has been repudiated by the people of Ireland, and which maintains its force as an alien invading army on 'active service' on Irish soil, condemned to death and executed, in defiance of the rules of civilized warfare, the following:

5 public halls wholly or partially destroyed.

Crops on 60 farms burned.

14 towns 'shot up.'

Many general raids, lootings and robberies.

"British Aggression in 1917-1918."

"In connection with these tables of figures it is well to call attention to the fact that the English Government alleges that their regime of terror in Ireland is necessary because of the campaign of crime. An examination of the Irish newspapers files for the years 1917-1918 shows that there was not in these years even an alleged campaign of crime. There was but one policeman killed in those two years; he died as a result of injuries received while leading a baton charge to disperse a peaceful public meeting. In 1917 twenty-two (22) of the English Assize Judges in Ireland found a remarkable absence of crime on their circuits covering practically the whole area of Ireland. In 1918 nineteen (19) of these Judges had the same report to make. Yet during these two years English people and soldiers carried on a constant and consistent campaign of aggression to provoke the people into retaliation. Public meetings of the people were suppressed or dispersed by batons or bayonets. The murderers were not only unpunished, but were selected for promotion in the service of their employers."

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

DEAFNESS AND HEAD
NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises, so to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength) and add to it a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

TEXT OF IRISH PARLIAMENT'S APPEAL TO U. S. CONGRESS

lowing Irishmen for the 'crime' of levying war against the British forces which seek to destroy the national independence of their country or for that of being in possession of firearms with which they might defend the right of their country to that national independence:

1920.
"Nov. 1.—Kevin Barry, aged 18 medical student, Dublin. Hanged in Mountjoy jail. He was one of seven members of the Irish Republican army armed with revolvers, who attacked eight English soldiers armed with rifles; one of these soldiers was killed in the encounter, and Kevin Barry was hanged for 'murder.'

1921.
"Feb. 1.—Cornelius Murphy, Rathmore, County Kerry, shot in Cork jail for being in possession of firearms.

"Feb. 28.—John Allen, Bank place, Tipperary, shot in Cork jail for being in possession of firearms.
"Feb. 28.—Daniel O'Callaghan, Dripsey, County Cork; Thomas O'Brien, Dripsey, County Cork; John Lyons, Aghabullogue, County Cork; Timothy McCarthy, Fornaught, County Cork, and Patrick O'Mahony, Berrings, County Kerry, shot in Cork jail for levying war against the British forces."

"Copy of letter from President De Valera to each member of the Coalition in the English House of Commons, on Feb. 12, 1921:

"To: M. P.

"House of Commons, London.
"Lest on a plea of ignorance you should disclaim responsibility for what is being done here in your name, speaking for the elected Representatives of the people of Ireland, I now bring directly to your notice the following facts:

"The troops in Ireland employed by your Government are not only waging an unjust war upon our people, but are carrying on that war in a manner contrary to all rules of civilized warfare. In defiance of these rules your forces are guilty of:

"1. The torturing of prisoners.
"2. The assassination of men and boys in their homes, on the streets and in prison.

"3. The murdering of women, of children, and of clergymen.
"4. The outraging of women and girls.

"5. The flogging and maltreatment of groups of civilians taken in the villages and countryside.

"6. The issuing and enforcing of 'crawling' and such like humiliating and degrading orders.

"7. The taking of men from their work and forcing them to do military duty, or work at military labor as slave gangs.

"8. The burning and looting of factories, creameries, shops and dwelling houses, the destruction of farmsteads and farm produce and the killing and maiming of livestock.

"In order to help you realize the situation, it is necessary to restate this fact:

"The Irish people are a free people. They acknowledge no right to dominion over them on the part of the British executive, the British legislature or the British people. They are engaged in a lawful effort to defend a sacred right which you are invading. Abandoning justice and reason, the only ground on which it is possible for civilized peoples to come to an understanding, you are seeking to crush that lawful effort by a blind barbaric violence.

"Although you have put your troops on 'active service' in Ireland, although you have sought to justify many of the vile deeds committed as 'acts of war' and although you are armed with the most deadly modern machinery of war and protected by every means known to technical skill, you now seek to purchase immunity from defensive action on our part by making the possession of firearms an offense for which Irishmen may, if arrested, be shot, and for which one has been shot; and by carrying Irish citizens as 'hostages' in your military expeditions against our people. The orders to your troops are to shoot these hostages should the unit with which they are traveling be attacked. Already, under the specious pretense that they were trying to escape, many Irish prisoners have been brutally murdered by

Billings' Single In 13th Inning Beats the Tigers

Wildness of Brownie Hurlers Prevents Team From Winning by Wide Margin.

TOBIN HAMMERS THE BALL

John Gets Four Swats and Is Purposely Passed When Men Are on the Sacks.

DETROIT, Mich., May 3.—With weather adapted more to the gridiron sport than to the national pastime, the Browns won the final game of the series yesterday, 7 to 6 in 13 innings. It was cold, awfully cold. Those in the stands were baseball bugs, who would attend a baseball game in Alaska on the frozen ground if no other opportunity were afforded them.

This frigid atmosphere probably accounted for the inability of the Browns' hurlers to locate the plate. They found themselves in numerous entanglements before they succeeded in emerging victors in the second overtime struggle between the two teams in as many days. The Browns started out as if they would place the game on ice in the first inning with three runs, but in the very same frame Bayne just supplied couldn't tempt the opposition to strike at his bad ones, with the result that after walking Young and Bush, the first two Tigers at bat, he finally induced Veach and Jones to hit safely and enabled the Tigers to get back two of the runs.

Tobin Has Great Day. Tobin's triple and Gerber's sacrifice fly brought the Browns' total to four in the third. In this same period Cobb's single and Veach's double accounted for a run, while a base on balls, a sacrifice hit and a single by Bush made it four all at the end of the Tigers' fourth. In the seventh Ty's men took the lead by scoring on a base on balls and Blue's two-bagger. In the ninth the Browns forged in for a run, while Wetzel, who batted for Gleason, tied to right, the wind carrying the ball directly into Flagstead's hands. Lamb hit along the left foul line for two bases, after which Billings fanned. Severeid was inserted for Bayne and he promptly came across with a perfect clean single to center, which scored Lamb. While the ball was being returned to the diamond Severeid sauntered leisurely to second and came home a moment later on Tobin's single past first base.

The Browns' advantage did not stay with them for long. Davis, who succeeded Bayne, fell heir to the latter's habit of passing the first batsman and allowed Veach to trot to first on four wide ones. When he had two balls called on the next Tiger at bat, Davis soon disappeared from view while Shocker entered the picture and Shorten who substituted for Flagstead drove a single to center, sending Veach to third. When Williams was unable to return the ball to the plate in time, the Veach after a clean single to the nab, the score was once more tied. Hellmann, who batted for Alsinth, was purposely passed and Bassler, batting for Holling, struck out.

Billings' Hit Wins the Game. In the thirteenth, however, Lee who had been inserted for Wetzel earlier in the proceedings walked and was sacrificed to second by Lamb. Billings was equal to the occasion with a single which scored Lee and that proved to be the winning run, although the Tigers managed to get Bassler on third and witness Cobb at bat in their half of the frame. But Ty hit to short and it was all over when Slater caught the throw.

Tobin was the bright star for the Browns on the offensive, John getting four hits and three passes for a perfect day at bat. When men were on the sacks Tobin was purposely walked.

Clinton Defeats Welling. BOSTON, May 3.—Johnny Clinton of Boston was awarded the decision over Joe Welling of Chicago at Braves Field last night. Carl Tremaine of Cleveland knocked out Terry McCue of Philadelphia in the fifth round. Bobby Dyson of New Bedford, with his left hand maimed beyond use after the fourth round, was awarded the decision over Earl Puryear of Denver.

Sewanee Wins Track Meet. GEORGETOWN, Ky., May 3.—The University of the South (Sewanee) yesterday defeated Georgetown College, 72 to 37, in a track meet here. Sewanee made a clean sweep in six events and first in three others. Georgetown secured only four firsts, in one of which there was no second place.

Fulton Knocks Out Bell. PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Fred Fulton of Philadelphia made a short work of Jack Bell of Houston, Tex., here last night, the bout being stopped after 2 minutes and 50 seconds of fighting, to save Bell from further punishment. Homer Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich., knocked out Billy Miller of Rochester, N. Y., in 1 minute and 15 seconds.

Bowlers Hold Meeting. The St. Louis Bowling Association will hold a special meeting next Sunday afternoon at the Washington alley at 4 o'clock to consider the averages of certain teams participating in the current tournament and take action thereon. All bowlers are invited to attend and express their sentiments.

This Derby Candidate Created a Real Sensation

BLACK SERVANT

LOCAL attention in connection with the Kentucky Derby this week has focused on an entry named Black Servant, a magnificent appearing colt by Black Toney-Padua, by Laveno.

This eligible to the $55,000 feature developed prominence last Saturday by defeating the second choice, Leonardo II, in a fine race over the Lexington course with full Derby weight up. Leonardo finished fourth in this event, which was run in good time, considering the course conditions. The performance, however, was not such as to attract the same attention as Leonardo created when he equaled Man O'War's mile record in a previous outing at Lexington.

Prudery Will be Whitney Stable's Main Reliance in Kentucky Derby

Likely Daughter of Peter Pan by Her Earnest Endeavor in Early Training, Replaces Tryster—Makes Formidable Showing in Workout Over Downs Course.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3.—Some fast workups for the Kentucky Derby were seen at Churchill Downs today. The track again is fast and trainers are setting down their bets for the supreme test of next Saturday. That only the stoutest of heart enabled her to be within striking distance of the winner. She was off next to last in a big field and had to race on the outside while making her way up, yet was only beaten by a short head.

Prudery Has Good Workout.

All the Whitney horses were out on the track today. Prudery did the best work and Tryster seemed to be falling off a bit after a fast start. Prudery's mile and one-eighth was in 1:52 4-5, as follows: 1:12 2-5, 1:23 4-5, 1:34 2-5, 1:47 1-5, 1:00, 1:13, 1:28 1-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:52 4-5. Tryster did the full derby distance as follows: 1:12, 1:25, 1:34, 1:46 2-5, 1:59 1-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:26 2-5, 1:40 1-5, 1:52 2-5, 2:07.

Broomspun went a slow mile and one-quarter in 2:15, doing the half in 1:16 and the mile in 1:49. Dartmoor breezed a half in :53, and Exodius three-quarters in 1:21. The Simms colts also were on the track. Leonardo II, so badly beaten at Lexington Saturday, went a mile and one-quarter in 2:11 2-5, fraction in :51, 1:17 1-5, 1:30 1-5, 1:43 4-5, 1:57 1-5, 2:11 2-5.

Whitney's Stable Reliance.

Contrary to antecedents and with one single exception, Trainer Jim Rowe will again pin his faith on a filly to carry the Harry Payne Whitney colors to victory in the Blue Ribbon event. Prudery, a likely daughter of Peter Pan-Polly Flinders, by Burgomaster, by her earnest endeavors in early training has replaced Leonard as the main reliance for this coveted prize by the Whitney connections. After Prudery's formidable showing over the Downs course yesterday, horsemen were forced to acknowledge that this filly has more than an even chance of winning, which will oppose her next Saturday afternoon.

As a 2-year-old Prudery won five out of eight starts, she was second twice and unplaced once. In the rich Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga last year Prudery finished second to Leonardo II. She carried 127 pounds and experienced such bad racing luck

As a result of his defeat of Leonardo Saturday, Black Servant took a sudden drop from 20 to 1 to 5 to 1 in the future betting on the event. Most conservative speculators consider that this price does not fairly represent Black Servant's chances and that he is really not better than 10 to 1 in the "future" speculation. As a 2-year-old he did not rank with the good horses that will start against him and he has been soundly beaten by several of them. He started seven times as a 2-year-old and in his second and third races he proved a winner over indifferent opponents.

Pay-or-Play Odds on Saturday's Derby

FOLLOWING the list of prices offered locally in the "future" betting, on next Saturday's Kentucky Derby, which is to be run at Churchill Downs, Louisville, for a gross purse of $55,000.

The odds mentioned are those submitted to local speculators and do not reckon the entries by "stables" but by individual entries.

Unplaced in Futurity. The severity of this race so plainly showed itself that this grand filly, unplaced in the rich Futurity, which was won by Step Lightly, previous to this race Prudery reversed the decision on Step Lightly in the Spinaway Stakes at Saratoga. The Grand Union Hotel Stakes run at Saratoga was also captured by the crack Whitney filly. The speedy Oriole gave way to Prudery in this race. In the Saratoga Special her stable mate, Tryster, had the honor of gaining the judges' eye first. It was plain to those who witnessed the running of this race that Tryster was the nominated one of the Whitney entry. Her rider, E. Ambrose, evidently riding under instructions, could have passed Tryster any time during the last 70 yards. But he was not inclined to do so, and there by permitted the colt to gain a head victory over the filly. The result of this race so impressed Trainer Rowe that he then and there decided that he had a splendid chance to again win the Kentucky Derby with all hopes of landing this coveted prize, as did Regent in 1915.

MRS. WAGNER LEADS IN WOMEN'S TENPIN EVENT

CLEVELAND, O., May 3.—Twenty-four doubles and a like number of singles events are on today's program of the fourth annual tournament of the Women's National Bowling Association, Chicago, Milwaukee, Dayton, Indianapolis and Kansas City bowlers will participate. Toledo and Milwaukee five-women teams are on tonight's program. There were no changes in the standing of the leaders yesterday. The Bensinger Wabashes of Chicago led the quintets with a score of 237; Wood-Greenwald of Cleveland led the doubles with 596, and Mrs. L. Wagner, Cleveland, with 642, topped the singles.

SHERWOOD TAKES LEAD IN BOWLING TOURNEY

Frank Sherwood went into first place in the all-events of the city handicap bowling tournament on the Washington alleys last night with a total of 1748, which included scores of 570 in the five-man, 598 in doubles and 580 in singles. In the doubles last night Sherwood and Bob Harris, aided by a handicap of 37 pins, totaled 1185, while in the singles R. Brunk, with a donation of 42, counted 425 for the high mark.

Subsequently, however, he was beaten badly by such horses as Star Voter, Moody, Pluribus, Registrar, Nancy Lee, Gen. Gomez, Tryster, Prudery, Dimmesdale, etc. He was fifth by 11 lengths in the race when Tryster won by a nod from his stable companion, Prudery, and third by five lengths behind Gen. Gomez and Nancy Lee. A seventh place in the rear of Moody, Pluribus, etc., did not give his supporters much occasion for enthusiasm at the time. Black Servant, however, has developed wonderfully as a 3-year-old and it is certain that he will go to the post one of the best conditioned horses in the event.

Kelly Is Leading Ruth in Race for HomeRun Honors

NEW YORK Baseball Stars Monopolize Leadership in Long Distance Clouting.

THE Cardinals, at present in last place in the National League race, are scheduled to depart at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Pittsburgh, where tomorrow they inaugurate their first extended road tour of the season. Rickety's men will visit every city on the circuit and are scheduled to play 27 games before returning to the home lot, June 3, when the Phillies will be the Knotters' opponents.

In the last two games played at home the Cardinals loomed as a real club, behind good pitching, fielding and timely hitting. The complete road schedule is as follows: May 4, 5, 6, 7, at Pittsburgh; May 8, at Chicago; May 10, 11, 12, 13, at New York; May 14, 15, 16, 17, at Brooklyn; May 18, 19, 20, 21, at Philadelphia; May 22, 23, 24, 25, at Boston; May 27, 28, 29, at Chicago; May 30, 31, June 1, at Cincinnati.

The two New York clubs at present own the home-run champions of the major leagues in "Babe" Ruth of the Yankees and George Kelly of the Giants. Ruth yesterday pounded out his sixth circuit wallop of the season against Sam Jones of the Red Sox, while Kelly rapped out his seventh against Waston of the Braves. One of the features is that only one of the homers for each of the sluggers has come off a southpaw pitcher. Each has hit for the circuit in three parks, Ruth picking on New York, Philadelphia and Boston and Kelly on New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

WOMEN GOLFERS TO HOLD FIRST TOURNAMENT AT GLEN ECHO TOMORROW

The opening weekly tournament of the women's St. Louis District Golf Association will be held at Glen Echo Country Club tomorrow, starting 9:30 o'clock. The events on the program are nine holes, blind bogey; 18 holes, blind bogey, and 18 holes, low gross score. All events must be finished before luncheon. Two prizes will be awarded to the individuals making the lowest gross and the lowest net scores, providing the contestant has played in five of the open tournaments. Team competition among the clubs will be started in June. The four best players from each club, chosen by the chairman of each club, will form the teams and will be matched according to handicaps. A prize will be awarded to the winning team, to be kept by the club and the individual scoring the greatest number of points for her team will receive a prize.

One of the features is that only one of the homers for each of the sluggers has come off a southpaw pitcher. Each has hit for the circuit in three parks, Ruth picking on New York, Philadelphia and Boston and Kelly on New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

The homers for the two sluggers: RUTH—April 16 off Harris at New York; April 20 off Russell at New York; April 21 off Moore at Philadelphia; April 22 off Rommel at Philadelphia; April 25 off Johnson at New York; May 2 off Jones at Boston.

KELLY—April 13 off Ring at Philadelphia; April 16 off Meadows at Philadelphia; April 21 off Hubbell at New York; April 22 off Casey at Philadelphia; April 27 off Mitchell at Brooklyn; April 30 off Oeschger at New York; May 2 off Waston at New York.

Ruth's circuit drive in the ninth inning of the score for the Red Sox, but a double by Pratt and single by Hendrix won for the men of Duffy in their half, 2-1. Sam Jones and Carl Mays were the rival flingers.

Box Score Gleanings.

Ed Konig's team, which scored Wheat in the ninth inning, gave the Dodgers a 4-3 conquest over the Phillies. It was the eleventh successive win for the story champions. Wilbert Robinson used Cadore, Milburn and Mitchell on hurling hill. Wilbur Hubbell, hurling for the Phillies, Star Voter, H. K. L. Ross, 40, Doubtful; Billy Barton, C. A. Stone, 20, Doubtful; Corne, C. C. Van M. 20, Doubtful; Gennetiere, C. C. Van M. 20, Doubtful; Pluribus, H. P. W. 20, Doubtful; Muskallong, Bud Fisher, 30, Doubtful; Step Lightly, W. J. Schorr, 60, No Doubtful; Other quotations of eligibles, most of which have only a remote chance of being sent to the post, are as follows: 60-to-1—Knobbe, Botheimer, Pantoche, Firebrand, Sir Thomas Kean, Uncle Velo, Sporting Blood.

DECISION IN DEMPSEY CASE, HERE, TWO YEARS TOO LATE TO HELP HIM

Today, two years after his contract to manage Jack Dempsey had expired, "Barber" John Reiser of New York City lost his local appeal in the Court of Appeals, in which he prayed the Court to reverse the ruling of Judge Vital Garesche, who more than two years ago decided that the contract referred to was without effect in the State of Missouri. Back in 1918, when Dempsey was in the limelight and was making a strong bid for title recognition, his manager, Jack Kearns, was exhibiting him at the Standard Theater here. Enter John Reiser praying an injunction that Dempsey be released from the exclusive contract with Kearns, and the strained from the exclusive contract of Kearns, and entered into all future exhibitions under any save his (Reiser's) management. He urged that a three-year contract, which still had a year to run, gave him the exclusive right to manage Dempsey.

Judge Garesche granted a temporary injunction and stopped Dempsey's show. But when the argument to make the injunction permanent was heard Garesche decided that the contract was without effect in the State of Missouri, where prize fighting was a felony under the statutes and the contract therefore invalid. It was from this decision that Reiser appealed.

RUN OF CATTLE LIGHT AND MARKET TENDS HIGHER

CATTLE—Another light run of cattle today received fair action at unevenly higher values. A few calves, beef steers and butcher yearlings ranged from strong to 25¢ higher.
Cows and bulls mostly 10¢ to 25¢ higher.
Stockers and feeders were strong; veal calves, 25¢ better, top making $10. The top for heavy steers was $9 and on lightweight yearling $9.25.
Beef steers, bulk, $7.50@8.35; top, $9;
stockers and feeders, bulk, $5.75@7;
butcher yearlings, bulk, $9.50@10.

29.25; butcher cows, bulk, $5.50 to $7.50;
 canner and cutter cows, range, $2.25 to 4;
 beef and bologna bulls, bulk, $3.50; veal calves, bulk, $9.00 to 75; top, $10.
HOGS—Hogs scored a 10c to 15c upturn today and the bulk sold in a narrow spread of $8.40 to $8.50. Top was $8.60 to 15c higher than yesterday. An active demand from shippers covers all city butchers took over practically everything in good season and no evidence of weakness was apparent on the late rounds. Good weight was freely around $8.25 to $8.40 and light weights $7.50 to $7.75. Some areas brought $6.00 to $6.75 and stags $5.50 to $5.75. An estimated Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1980 sheep prices were: 1200 sheep $10.00 to $10.25, wethers $10.00 to $10.25 and strong to 25% higher market. Prices for spring lambs were firm, the best being $10.00 to $10.25, spring lambs $9.50 to $10.00 and strong to 25% advance. Fat lambs showed at $9.00 to $9.50.

HORSES AND MARETTES The horse market has averaged about steady so far this week. All grades receiving fair action, with some improvement in the lower end of the types. The latter are being neglected to a degree. Some of the better have received rather good calls and the market is firm. Some small grades in particular. Receipts have been moderate.

TWO REPORT HOLDUPS WHILE IN GARAGES

John Basich Says He Was Robbed of $2350 and Harry Pre-lutsky Reports $325 Loss

Two men reported to the police this morning and last night, that they were held up and robbed in garages, each reporting the loss of a considerable sum of money. The police are investigating both cases.

John Basich, 32 years old, of 910 Lafayette avenue, a collector for the National Cigar Co., 1111 South Jefferson avenue, reported at the Southern Street Station at 9:15 p. m. that, as he was putting his automobile away in the rear of 1725 South Eighth street, two men stepped into the garage, threatened him with revolvers, tied his hands and then fastened him with a rope to the rear of his car. From his hip pocket, he said, the men took a purse containing $2350. They did not examine his other pockets, in one of which he had $6. He called for help, and two men came and cut the rope.

Basich said $77 of the money belonged to the cigar company and that the rest was his. He said he had drawn it from a bank to purchase furniture, as he expected to be married soon. He said the amount also included $200 which he meant to pay a debt to a friend. The men who released him told the police of finding him tied in the garage.

Harry Pre-lutsky, 26, of 3915 Bay street, a produce dealer, formerly a police telephone operator, reported at 4 a. m. that, when he went into a garage at 3912 South Broadway, to put away his car, a man with a revolver entered and took from him $315 and a check for $10. He said he intended to use $250 of the money taken in paying a debt.

Man Who Resists Two Negro Highwaymen Knocked Down.

Louis Murdoreo of 3223 Olive street resisted the efforts of two negro highwaymen to rob him, near Twentieth street and Lucas avenue, at 9 p. m., and was knocked down and dragged to a hallway across the street, where the negroes robbed him of $14 and ran away.

John Rosco, 617 Walnut street, found at 11 p. m. at Broadway and Walnut, suffering from cuts and bruises on the head and face, told the police he had been attacked by two men and robbed of his watch and chain.

A burglar alarm attached to a gong inside the store of A. J. Szymon, 1509 Market street, routed burglars who went to considerable trouble to get into the store last night. The bell was heard by policemen shortly after 9 o'clock and investigation disclosed the robbers had slid into a coal chute next door to the store and had sawed through a partition to get into the Szymon basement and from there had bored holes in the flooring, making an aperture 12 by 15 inches, and were sawing out the boards when the alarm sounded. Nothing was taken.

THE BEAUTIFUL WOMEN OF HISTORY

Gave Much Time to the Improvement of Their Complexion.

It is said that the most beautiful women of history are the ones that spent most of their time in the cultivation, improvement and prolongment of the life of their beauty. They used all safe means they could find to accomplish this aim.

Black and White Beauty Bleach will remove skin blemishes, such as tan, sun and wind freckles, blotches, liver spots. It will clear your complexion—make your skin soft and youthful.

Black and White Bleach is a de-lightfully perfumed, pink-tinged cold cream compound, approved and used by particular women. It will not clog hair on the face, and when applied forms an invisible coating on the skin.

Black and White Soap should always be used with Black and White Beauty Bleach. Its regular use will keep the skin in perfect condition. Clip and mail this advertisement to Black and White, Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn., for free literature, samples of Black and White Face Powder and Incense, of Flowers Talcum Powder.

SHIP OWNERS DECLINE ARBITRATION PROPOSAL

Hoover's Suggestion Rejected—Davis Confers With Benson and Union Men.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 3. — With the ship owners declining arbitration, Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board firmly opposed to a compromise on his 15 per cent wage reduction order and representatives of the strikers confident that the "owners will come to terms," the controversy over seamen's wages and working conditions appears today to be further from settlement than ever.
No further word has come from the White House concerning a mediation commission, and indications are that the President is awaiting a reply from Secretaries Hoover and Davis, in whose hands the problem had been placed.

At the Department of Labor it was said Secretary Davis was following his policy of talking separately with representatives of the contending factions, having conferred late yesterday with Chairman Benson and spokesmen for the union. It expected these conferences will be continued today. Just what more Hoover contemplates is not known, following the rejection last night by the steamship owners of his suggestion that the question of a wage contract be submitted to arbitration by a commission of three men, not Government officials.

Admiral Benson, in announcing his opposition to a compromise, said the 15 per cent wage reduction put in effect May 1 was fully justified by economic conditions, and called upon "all loyal citizens to rally to the support of their flag." He declared the board's efforts to keep its ships in operation was meeting with "gratifying success."

W. S. Brown, president of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, predicted a general tie-up of marine transportation, and said he expected the ship owners "will come to terms" in a few days. Reports as to the number of ships already tied up and the number of men idle continue to conflict, but it is known that practically every port has been affected to some extent.

Deep Sea Employees at Frisco Quit.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Deep sea shipping activities of San Francisco Bay practically ceased today through refusal of employees to re-ship at new wages, and conditions which became effective yesterday.
Shipping men announced this morning.

SAYS HE GOT MONEY TO GAMBLE BY FORGING FATHER'S NAME

Man Who Admits Passing Worthless Checks Tells of Being Robbed After Winning.

John O. Smith, 27 years old, of Fredericktown, Mo., who has been staying here at the Laclede Hotel, today told detectives and reporters he forged the name of his father, George O. Smith of 5003 Page boulevard, to two checks for $100 each to obtain money to gamble in Madison and Brooklyn, Ill., and that he not only lost this money, but also was held up and robbed of $450 and his watch and rings after a winning streak in which he won $150 in a night in a Madison gambling house. Smith was arrested last night on a telegram from De Soto, Mo., saying he was wanted there on a charge of passing a bad check on a bank. His father formerly was in the milling business in Fredericktown, and is now a grain dealer on the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange. About two months ago, Smith said, he passed two worthless checks, signed with his own name, at the Hotel Statler, but later made these good.

Hotel Guests Report $600 Theft.
Mr. and Mrs. Orlando E. Robinson, guests at the Hotel Claridge, Eighteenth and Locust streets, reported to the police that $600 was taken from their room between 3 p. m. and 9 p. m. yesterday. When they returned to their room, No. 322, they found it had been entered with a duplicate key and the money had been taken from a dresser drawer. It was in Mrs. Robinson's purse.

The U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season. The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trademark in the U.S. Pat. Office.

The Tire Situation Right Now

WITHIN the next 24 hours American car owners will buy around $2,000,000 worth of tires.

People will say that here's another picture of American buying power.

Forgetting, perhaps, that the thinking power of the average citizen is the thing to be dealt with today.

Spectacular money and runaway expense don't go with him any more.

When he sets out to buy a tire he is not interested in big sales figures, but in the one individual tire he is getting here and now.

There is a movement among tire-dealers to make tire-economy a reality to the car owner.

These dealers are handling nothing but United States Tires. Gearing-up to meet the new thrift-times.

A customer comes in and asks for, let's say, a 35 x 5 Royal Cord. His size is in stock. No waiting. No being talked into a "second-choice" make or a "job-lot".

Open good faith on both sides of the deal.

And the purchaser goes away with a fresh live tire of current manufacture.

All this is economy and service.

And there isn't any other kind of economy and service.

There are thousands of dealers right now who are concentrating on United States Tires.

Thousands more are getting ready to do the same thing.

They believe in U. S. quality, in the U. S. square policies—to the full extent that they put their whole personal investment behind what U. S. stands for.

It is a pleasure to say that these tire men are laying the corner-stone for a tire service far ahead of anything the motorist has ever known before.

Go where you find the U. S. Sign and see.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Monuments.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have been very much interested with the splendid thought of our good friend and ever loyal St. Louisan, Saunders Norvell.

Saunders Norvell is a man, a type of which is now making St. Louis the "Miracle City," and I personally, long for the day when he will sell out his Eastern interests and come back to be a force in the city where he is most respected and loved.

However, taking issue with him on the subject of monuments, I cannot help but suggest that no greater monument could be erected to the memory of E. C. Simmons than the gigantic enterprise which he has left bearing his name, and which he built from the very ground up. A monument that presents a cold, dead shaft of marble, in the thought of Thomas Gray, can never "Back to its mansion call the fleeting breath." Our great dead men have left great monuments of living things, such as Simmons Hardware and Cupples Woodware Co., while the living Mallinckrodt, the Crummins and Martins and the Shapleighs are building, stone by stone, that which will live and create and do good for all time.

Statues and monuments are sometimes mislabeled and made the mark and the four-flush of politics. Imagine Ulysses Grant, that wonderful General, come back, a la Peter Grimm, and walking over from the Jefferson Hotel to Twelfth and Market, there to witness his monument, robbed of all perspective and shoved into a corner of the city hall yard, without light or settings. Then to find out that this had been done by a group of politicians, whose artistic knowledge of monuments and art must have begun and ended with some local foreign tombstone manufacturer on North Broadway.

Please, Mr. Norvell, let us continue to have the living monuments built to the everlasting memory of Henry Shaw, Samuel Cupples, Bryan Mallinckrodt, George Barnard, Mrs. McMillan, Father Dunne and Richard Scruggs. Let us have living and breathing monuments in works of charity, realized through more playgrounds, memorial parks and such splendid testimonials as the Shriners' hospital. Let us have monuments of life. Endorsements to the public library, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, the Municipal Theater. These will be the things that will hold the memory of men to St. Louis and to the world longer than stone shafts and bronze statues can ever last.

In the meantime, Mr. Norvell, come on back to St. Louis.

PETER B. GIBSON.

Old-Fashioned Hello Girl.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

When a man pays a top price for service, he is entitled to at least fair service. The poor service rendered by local telephone operators is a matter the telephone company should investigate. We subscribers understand that lines are busy and all that, but what excuse is there when a person asks for a number and the operator distinctly repeats it, and then connects the person calling with an entirely different number? And why are operators permitted to insult subscribers?

Give us some of the intelligent, nimble-brained, sweet-voiced, pleasant dispositioned girls of the prewar days; in other words, give us telephone operators who know how to say hello with a smile.

Solving the Golf Problem.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have been reading numerous articles and editorials in your paper in reference to the condition and the number of persons that are using the municipal golf courses, and as those of us who are interested in golf have been handicapped by the number of novices who have taken up the game this season, we believe that the golf fans of St. Louis should take immediate action to devise a plan to obtain the necessary revenue for the construction of one or more municipal courses. It would be folly to ask the city officials to appropriate the necessary funds, as they have recently confessed that they are broke.

Thousands of persons have taken up golf within the last few months through the assistance of several golf club sales held by St. Louis merchants. I would like to suggest that the Park Commissioner put the following system into immediate action: A registration fee of 25c, more or less, as decided by a committee to meet with the Park Commissioner, which will entitle players to one day's use of the course, regardless of whether he plays one game or a dozen in that particular day. Let this money be collected and handled by a committee composed of a few reputable business men, golf enthusiasts with no political connections. The Park Commissioner could work in harmony with this committee, who would furnish the money for him to establish a new course and assist in the betterment of the present courses. President Harding is willing to pay 25c for each game of golf which he plays on Washington National Links, and I believe that every enthusiastic golf player in St. Louis would be willing to give the 25 cents if he knew beyond a doubt that the money was going to be used for the betterment of golf.

THE NEWBERRY DECISION.

The Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the Federal Court, which found Truman H. Newberry guilty of violating the Federal statute limiting primary and election expenditures and sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, besides assessing a fine of $10,000. The judgment is reversed for two reasons: First, because of errors in the lower court's instruction, and, second, because, according to the majority opinion, the Supreme Court "cannot conclude that the authority to control party primaries and conventions for designating candidates was bestowed on Congress."

The decision, of course, in no wise affects the facts established in Newberry's election. Outstanding among those facts is the affidavit filed by the treasurer of the Newberry Campaign Committee, which acknowledged that the committee had expended $176,568.08 in the primary, notwithstanding the Federal statute forbids an expenditure of more than $10,000 in the nomination and election.

That fact alone leaves no question as to the grossly illegal use of money by his friends in making Newberry a Senator, provided the Federal corrupt practices act were constitutional. The Supreme Court denies the authority of Congress to pass such an act. Newberry has received no clean bill of moral health from the Supreme Court's decision, and his gratuitous statement that the "good name of the State of Michigan has been cleared" is a piece of unctuous, impertinent nonsense.

The Supreme Court holds that it is within the power of the several states to "suppress whatever evils may be incident to primary or convention," but should the states fail—as Michigan palpably has failed—Congress is not impotent. The opinion points out that as "each house shall be the judge of elections, qualifications and return of its members, the national Government is not without power to protect itself against corruption, fraud and other malign influences."

The logic of such reasoning is impeccable, but Congress, nevertheless, has seldom manifested a disposition to exercise that right. The ancient Thaddeus Stevens tradition of protecting "our own damned rascals" is still vigorous and active. The Senate's deportment in the Newberry affair is in point. As long ago as Nov. 15, 1918, a petition was filed in the United States Senate reciting the alleged circumstances and conditions of Newberry's election and requesting an investigation. Many other efforts have been made. They have all been in vain. The Senate, by procrastination and inaction, has effectively blocked every attempt to determine the real character of Newberry's claim to a seat in that body.

So far as the facts go, Newberry's seat was bought, and the Senate welcomed into its fold this bearer of tainted credentials.

There is no power in Congress, according to the Supreme Court, to punish corrupt practices in congressional primaries or elections by law. The money-bag candidate is safe and the door of Congress is open to the corruptionist, so far as Federal law goes.

FEDERAL TAX OVERHAULING.

The only hope of effective relief from the tax burden, says Secretary Mellon in his recommendations to Congress proposing certain revisions in the distribution of the levy, is substantial cuts in current expenditures.

Notwithstanding the recent abundance of economy agitation, Congress has not shown that it was taking the popular exhortation seriously. It remains to be seen whether it will take heed of the Treasury Secretary's advice and avoid "reappropriation of unexpended balances, revolving-fund appropriations and appropriations of receipts and other indefinite authorization of expenditures" which "in the past have been responsible for hundreds of millions of dollars of actual cash outgo."

Revisions in the Federal tax, however, are inevitable. It remains to be determined what they shall be. Secretary Mellon's proposed eliminations, on the whole, are such as we may commend. There is no place in peace time for an excess profits tax. In the first place, there should be no excess profits, and if there are, the Government should not license them by becoming a partner in the division of the spoils.

So long as there must be a tax on business to provide the necessary revenues, the Secretary advises well in preferring a flat corporation levy to a general sales tax which would fasten the cost of government on rich and poor alike, without regard to ability to pay.

As to luxury and "nuisance" taxes, there may be wide difference of opinion. But certainly there can not be much disagreement over the soda fountain tax, which is an exaction on one of the poor man's few luxuries. It is a luxury, however, which, as in the case of ice cream and fruit ingredients, may be an important food. The admission tax, besides curtailing another poor man's luxury, is a burden on art.

The proposal of a Federal automobile license tax is to be unqualifiedly condemned as inimical to public policy. It has become the practice of the states to apply motor license taxes to road improvement and maintenance. Tax proceeds thus expended answer a vital economic need. But where is the owner of an auto vehicle, which may be a necessity, going to be if, on top of his insurance, repair and fuel bills, his state license tax, his local wheelage tax, which prevails in many cities, and his original Federal sales tax, is added another arbitrary tax from Washington?

A tax is a tax. It cannot be evaded, but it can be

ART AND BUSINESS.

The St. Louis Art League has an excellent and interesting exhibition of painting and sculpture by local artists at its new headquarters in the Planters Hotel. Most of the works of art have been exhibited in galleries of the Art Museum or the St. Louis Artists' Guild, but the collection is varied and good, and because of the downtown location is particularly valuable as a means of offering a view of St. Louis fine-art products to the business community.

We do not in any degree depreciate the value or the good purpose of the Art League in opening its downtown rooms and exhibiting the work of local painters and sculptors, because it combines practical encouragement of St. Louis artists with the cultivation of art taste and interest in the community, but why does it confine its activities almost exclusively to the fine arts, drama and music? In all of these it shares activity with other organizations. The Art Museum devotes its extensive galleries to general fine arts, including those of local artists, and the St. Louis Artists' Guild covers the field of local fine arts with year-round exhibitions—competitive and other. Drama has the Artist Guild Theater and several organizations. There is a wide field of art of special and incalculable value to the community which is practically unworked and which has no public agencies for exhibition and development. This is the field of industrial arts and crafts. No other is of such special and vital importance now to America as a whole and to industrial and commercial centers.

The developing of high standards of design and craftsmanship in industry, in the production of the things of daily use in the home and the office, in clothing and personal adornment, brings art nearer to the people than any other form of art. It not only cultivates taste and love of beauty, but it is good business. The art element is the most profitable element in industry and trade. It is not only the volume of business, but the quality of products, which counts in determining the profits of business. What shall we produce—raw, crude, cheap products or finished, costly products, combining beauty with utility? This question must be met by the development of good design and craftsmanship in industry or we shall go backward.

There is an awakening to the importance of art in industry in all parts of the country, particularly in industrial and trade centers. Special organizations are working to promote the active interest of manufacturers and merchants and the public in this subject in nearly all the large cities.

The St. Louis Art League made a good beginning in initiating the first Industrial Arts Exposition in St. Louis. That policy should be continued, but it is not necessary to organize territorial or national or international expositions, valuable as they are, in order to stimulate design in production. It can be done by stimulating the interest of local business men, by effective promotion and exhibitions of design and craftsmanship in local industries. The St. Louis Art League, or any other organization, can link its work with the business interests of the city and contribute service of inestimable value to business and the public by devoting its energies to the field of industrial arts and crafts.

FIGHTING FOR A PHRASE.

It is amazing what trifles are permitted to outweigh public interest when the employer and the employee have a falling out. Says the worker to the boss: "Cross that t and dot that i or you and i will mix." Says the boss to the worker: "I will not cross that t and dot that i, so come on and we will mix." So they mix and the public, which pays for everything, has to pay for another expensive strike or lockout or whatever it is. In the end the combatants compromise, probably, on crossing the t and letting the i go without a dot.

There is the printers' strike or lockout. On the surface the issue is whether the bosses shall agree to a 44-hour week, which they initiated without agreement, and whether they shall pay "time" or "time and a half" for Saturday afternoon work on the rare occasions when a rush order necessitates Saturday afternoon work.

It is apparent that the extra compensation asked for Saturday afternoon work is not the reason for the deadlock, because so little work is done on Saturday afternoon that the increased cost could easily be absorbed by the master printers or passed on to the public, and the occasional extra compensation which the printers would receive is not enough to fight for. But the printers are determined to have a 44-hour week and the bosses are determined that they shall not have it. They are fighting for a phrase.

Under the surface there may be other causes of contention which have greater semblance of substantiality. The printers say it is a question whether a promise made and an agreement entered into have validity as between employer and employee. There are intimations that the employers are trying to break the power of the employees' union. Whether the declared or the unacknowledged issue is the real one, the clash might have been averted by concession and conciliation, to the benefit of the employer, the employee and the public.

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"It looks as if there were no hope of getting back to normalcy anywhere until it can be determined who won the election in this country last fall," Mr. Antwerp said. "Our plight is comparable to that of Thebes in the time of Oedipus, but whether Mr. Hughes is to be that Oedipus who shall solve the riddle of our own time it is hard to say. He made a promising start when he assured the Germans that they didn't win it. As we all know, the Germans have been quite confident that they did. They have not been the only claimants by any means, but they have probably been the most useful. They thought the Harding administration was going to get them off easy, but Mr. Hughes seems not to have understood that he holds any such mandate. Possibly the Senate was quite within its implied instructions from the people when it passed the Knox resolution declaring the war with Germany ended; but judging by the notes Mr. Hughes is and is not sending the Germans, that is about as far as our own and Germany's notions of what happened agree."

"The oil people seem to be doing better. Confident that they won the election, they have received some slight admission that this was the case in the treaty with Colombia, which we are told has oil all over it. Whether that admission is to go so far as to color our Mexican policy is not indicated. If it does, I cannot see any hope of successfully disputing the claim of the oil people that they did win the election."

"However, this does not by any means exhaust the list of claimants. There are the farmers, the open shop people and the usual vested interests, three powerful groups each of which is just as sure to win the election as either the Germans or the oil people are. Let us hope we shall never have another election like it. In a close election we always know at once who won it, but a majority of more than 7,000,000 votes results in so many claimants that there is almost no end to it."

"We are told that the Sphinx propounded a riddle and devoured all those who failed to solve it. Oedipus answered the riddle and slew the Sphinx, which is precisely what someone must do for us if we are not to be devoured in turn. We are not getting back to normalcy, and we won't get there until we know absolutely who won the election. That must be understood by everyone before we can move in any direction. Until we know that business cannot revive, nor can the war prices decline. We are merely marking time as Thebes one time did, waiting for someone to solve the riddle."

Judging by the number of people who are working to bring about an understanding between our own country and England, the danger of a misunderstanding must be livelier than we suppose. Br'er Villard is working overtime to this end in the Nation, and now Br'er Kahn has gone to work at it. What one seems to make of it quite easily is that having got rid of Germany as a formidable competitor in foreign trade, England finds herself faced in the same field by that even greater Power, the United States. This is, to be sure, a situation out of which we will have to think ourselves with much more acumen than Br'er Kahn displays in talking about things that cannot matter so much. Br'er Villard, who seems to have been rendered right thoughtful by the refusal of Cincinnati to let him speak over there recently, has got to the heart of the danger, we imagine. England is not going to attach too much significance to that grand gesture in which we refused a share of the spoils after the late war. We have an empire, just as she has, and we got it the same way. We are taking foreign trade away from her, and that means more to England than mandates on places which do not spell a whole lot in dollars and cents. We do think, just as Br'er Kahn says, that Europe has cut a disgraceful caper after all the pother we had about the war to end war; but aren't we setting out ourselves after something worth more than faraway deserts and coconut islets? We are, and it will take a lot of us working at it to work it out.

WHAT JACK BLANTON IS SAYING.

(Monroe County Appeal.)

Only four women voted in the school election at Madison last week. Nowhere did women turn out in sufficient numbers to indicate much interest in educational matters. Looks like a pink tea feature will have to be added if we are to realize any of the vast benefits that were to come with the enfranchisement of the sisters.

Senator Reed is making a strong appeal for more coast defenses. He begins to realize that nations which refuse to co-operate with other nations for peace must keep on preparing for war. By the way, how many readers of the Appeal are aware of the fact that out of every dollar Uncle Sam gets into the Treasury at Washington 88 cents is spent for pensions, army, navy and fortifications?

As matters now stand, the Hyde administration is at a big discount in rural Missouri. The one piece of legislation the people desire most of all has been overlooked altogether, which is a law providing at least one circus a year for every county seat. Unless this matter receives favorable attention at the forthcoming special session rural Missouri will swing back into the Democratic column by 200,000 majority next fall.

Another way to promote the usefulness of the rural school is to organize in every one of them a class in wireless telegraphy. Simple and inexpensive outfits are available. Any bright boy or girl can learn to send and receive messages in a very short space of time. This would bring to the pupils and their parents the interesting news that is being flashed around the world every day and would put every district in such close touch with the marketing Bureau in Washington that the radio news it is preparing to send out would be available within a minute after being released. This is a very practical suggestion, even though it may cause a lot of people to smile. Within a very few years, we predict, there will not be a schoolhouse in Monroe County without its wireless outfit. And in due time, with the rapid development that is being made with wireless telephones, any farm home in the land will be able to transact business or carry on social conversation with individuals in any place in America or to get the weather and market reports from central points the minute they are released. What school will be the first to install a wireless outfit?

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce with bias the latest comment by the leading public newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

OUR INTERNATIONAL POLICY.

Editorial in Harvey's Weekly.
THE international air is clearing. So far the United States is concerned, we might say that it has already cleared. It is now possible to take observations, to define our position, and to determine our course. . . . This radiance and most gratifying transformation has been achieved not through any sweeping reversal of policy, but rather through the altered point of view from which, and the spirit in which, a policy is administered. It is agreeable to recognize, that there has been no marked change of policy. . . . The difference, then, in the point of view, and in the spirit. This we involuntarily foreshadowed in the peculiar contrast, upon which we have hitherto commented, between the English and French texts of Article of the Covenant of the League of Nations referring to the Monroe Doctrine. The said article in effect that nothing in the Covenant should affect the Monroe Doctrine; the other, that nothing in the Monroe Doctrine should affect the Covenant. Hitherto the point of view for the welfare of the solution of the industrial problem as is undoubtedly to be found in the Monroe Doctrine, now they are American. Formerly the purpose appeared to be to assent to what ever was demanded as best for the world in general, hoping that in some way it would work out for the good of this country. Now the unmistakable resolution is to insist upon what is essential for the welfare of this country, with the optimistic and altruistic corollary that we shall the—indeed we have always done—see to it that our own good is for the good of all friendly nations.

MANITOBA COUNCIL OF INDUSTRY.

From the Christian Science Monitor.
TO those who appreciate the energy and resource of Western Canada, the fact that out of the Province of Manitoba, with its population of about 600,000, should come such a splendid contribution toward the solution of the industrial problem as is undoubtedly to be found in the Manitoba Joint Council of Industry is not surprising. The council, which was first set up early in 1919, is composed of five members, employers and two employees, with a chairman appointed by the Government. It is a body of wide powers. Possessing all the authority of Judge of the Supreme Court, in the matter of investigation, it can hold complete inquiries into industrial disputes, whilst it may investigate and report as to housing conditions and as the adequacy or inadequacy of the prevailing rate of wages in any given industry. . . . An examination of the council's views as to the separate rights and duties of employers and employees shows them to be no less just. Trade union activities which do not interfere with duty are not to be penalized. The worker has a right to a living wage, that is to say, a wage which will enable him to live in decency and comfort. He is to receive a reasonable amount of holiday time, and he has a right to appeal against the decision of his employer. The employer, on the other hand, is to be assured of "continuity of work." A full day's work must be given for a full day's time, whilst discipline must at all times be preserved "for the purpose of co-ordinate and continuous effort." Few will be inclined to doubt the excellence of these rules, and the most welcome feature about the situation is the fact that they are evidently being adhered to. The council appears to have been most successful in bringing industrial peace to a province which previously was not famed for industrial peace. Still the progress of its work is being watched with interest throughout the Dominion and beyond its borders.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND.

A FOOL is born every minute—but they get married, two at a time. Every spring, a man meets "the one girl in a thousand"—and thanks heaven that there are 999 left, for all the springs to come!

So puzzling is the feminine sense of honor, that a woman who could be trusted anywhere with your husband, and to the ends of the earth with your jewels, cannot be trusted across the room with your secrets.

A wife complains that her husband "treats her like a servant." How nice! Does he say "please" when he wants anything, "Thank you" when he gets it, and hand her a regular sum of money, at the end of the week, without asking her what she wants it for?

The fact that a man enjoys kissing a woman never appears to be proof that he is not in love with another woman. Of course not! He may enjoy eating an orange, even though he much prefers grapes; but it's hard to make a woman understand little things like this!

Prohibition has done more to domesticate wild husbands than a hundred sermons. Every evening you can see them rushing home, eager as young lovers, to see how the home-brew is working.

Farwell, "spring bonnet" joke! Nowadays, a girl buys her spring stockings first, and if she has any money left, she may buy a wee hat to set them off.

When a man has recovered from a fit of indigestion, he may want something more to eat—but not the same menu; and, when he has recovered from a love affair, he may want more love—but not from the same girl.

A gay and happy youth gives old age sweet memories to live on.

Every age has its inquisitions! The day of the "formal call" has passed, but the horror has been replaced by the formal tea. The Terrible TEA—where you stand around smelling of freshly gasolineed gloves, talk to a lot of women who don't listen, break all your rules of diet, ruin your appetite for dinner and wreck your figure with sweets. TEA! The invention of Mrs. Satan, and the doctor's best friend!

Before marriage, a man and woman can go on seeing each other, evening after evening, forever, without brushing the bloom off their romance, but, ah, dear heart, remember that they don't have to see each other morning after morning!

Wonderful how a little vacation from each other brightens up a husband's conversation and smartens up a wife's clothes. It takes the light of a new interest, now and then, to keep up the glow of life.

The average man has such a large collection of little weaknesses that, no matter how poor the aim of his wife's sarcasm, she can always hit him in one of them.

Flattering a man makes him think a little better of himself—and a lot better of you!

Princiep'---and True Love

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

Then she raised her head and looked deep into the warm, dark eyes through a mist of tears.

"You are good and true, Princiep'," she said, simply, "but a trouble is with me always—and I cannot."

"Cannot?" he cried. "Cannot—or will not? Would you—would you if you could?"

For a moment she considered, watching the warm sand run like water through her tears.

"Yes," said Lilith Hope, slowly at last, "yes—I think I would—if it were possible."

Then she turned The Swallow back toward the town and Princiep', sick with anguish, followed silently.

The world had turned over for them once again. Through the woman's mind there ran all sorts of thoughts—of the roaring seas—of the gathering of her meager possessions—of leaving the mysterious desert that she had come to love in these short weeks—of the old weary moving on once more.

And Princiep', who had found his one great love, was sick inside him with an awful nausea.

Just before they reached the town he drew alongside and once more touched her hand, tentatively, gently, while his eyes were deep and tender.

"Tell me," he said, "is it anything that a man might help? Is it strength you need, Ma'amelle—I am strong—a fighter. Is it money? There are cattle on Hermosa rancho—thousands of them. Is it—the kind voice, halting, a perceptible space then went bravely on, "is it—another man?"

"Yes," said Lilith Hope, so low he scarcely heard, "it is a man."

Then did Princiep' touch bottom. The lover's touch on her hand slipped into the close clasp of the friend.

"Then I have come too late!" he cried, "you already love another!"

And with one consent they rode for the town in silence.

At the hotel steps he looked up at her with a very real anguish on his handsome face.

"Friends," he said, "we may still be those, Ma'amelle, can we not? You will ride with me"—but the sentence was not finished, for Lilith Hope, looking across his shoulder at the tourists trudging across the sand from the incoming train that panted at the station, turned ghastly white and slid down the pillar to the porch floor.

"Madre de Dios!" gasped Princiep', leaping to catch her in his arms, but he flashed a glance across his shoulder as he raised her, and several people were coming in—some train-tired women, a man or two, some children—and ahead of the rest a man in articulate sports clothing—a huge figure of a man, red of face, white of hands, with a face that caught the attention instantly.

Him Princiep' marked as he carried the girl inside and literally took Dick Holloway with him with his eyes.

Anna might meet the guests—or they could go unmet.

In her own room a few moments later Lilith opened her blue eyes to Princiep's gaze, and if they had been lonely and weary that first enchanted night, months back, they were literally frightened to death now. But she got a grip on herself and sat up, facing the two anxious men.

"All right now," she said, "a touch of fatigue—I thank you both."

But Princiep', on the stairs, looked at his friend Dick and knew it was not fatigue. Holloway also was silent.

For two days Princiep' saw no brown head by the pillar.

He did see, however, the new man with the red face, for he was in evidence everywhere, talking, posing, filling the eye.

"How can she love this pig?" he asked himself, and was inclined to doubt.

And then, on a morning, the stranger was gone—though it was between trains—and there were several men about the place, two quiet chaps who looked Eastern, but the most noticeable among the ever-changing stream of guests.

And at that dusk he was thrilled to see the brown head against the pillar and hastened to drop beside Lilith.

"My friend!" he breathed in relief and joy, "Oh, my dear, dear friend!"

But Lilith was in a sorry case indeed, for the blue eyes were sick with weeping and the sweet lips drooped like a tired child's and she could not take her in his arms and comfort her.

"Can I help?" he begged, "just any way?"

Lilith shook her head.

"That"—he said tentatively, "that was—the man, Ma'amelle?"

And his eyes were so earnest that the girl bit her lip to keep back the tears and answered honestly.

"That was the man."

"But is he not gone?" cried Princiep', dismayed that anyone who was Lilith Hope's should be able to be gone from her adorable presence.

"Oh, yes," she said miserably, "he is gone."

"How can where?"

Wild horses in another's hands could not have dragged the answer from her—but she answered Princiep'.

"North to the hills, I think."

"To stay?" he gasped.

"To stay! Ah, if she could but be sure."

"I do not know," she said, and the tears dripped unheeded down her little chin. Verily, the old tangled trouble was neither lost nor side-tracked in this new land.

Princiep' Allora rose up—like a slim lance in the soft dusk. His eyes flashed with all his inherited fire. His gallant heart, though heavy with its own pain, was stirring with large courage for another.

"Keep good heart, dear friend," he said, "good night. Buenos noches," he added in the softer tongue. Then he was gone.

That was a lovely night in the desert country, soft and blue with a myriad silver stars, and the tourists slept with open windows at the Holloway Hotel. To Princiep' it was a lovely night, too—full of thoughts of sacrifice and some that were not so noble—for he rode El Toro northward at a steady pace and he fingered the veritable arsenal that rode his slim person fearfully.

Two shiny guns hung at his hips, swung low, while in his right boot a wicked little blade was cunningly concealed. Also there was a coil of rope upon his saddlebow.

But if he saw the beauties of this, his country, with the eyes of the content lover, he felt, too, its tragedy—for would it not be pitilessly large and empty when that one sweet face was no longer a part of it?

And alas! it would not be when he should have returned from this trip—for he, Princiep', would see that what was breaking that adoring heart should no longer break it with absence—nor with broken vows—nor with anything—and was it not likely that she—they—would wish to return to that far place, Cincinnati, O.?

Thus Princiep' thought and reasoned, while El Toro's mighty hoofs tolled out the miles—northward to the hills.

Lilith Hope it was a long, long night, dark and weary.

But all nights must pass, as all lives run steadily toward their end, and the faint dawn came up to burn on tired eyes, and another day began. That was a long day, too—and the girl felt miserably that Princiep' was a thing of the past, that he would no more ride El Toro to the porch steps in the dawn.

She would never know the joy of The Swallow under her again. Ah, well! She would move on again—but where now, and how? The pitifully small means that had made rest and new health possible were amazingly shrunken now—were almost negligible.

So she fretted through the day and crept like a pale ghost down to sit for one more twilight on the porch by the east pillar.

The great desert spread out before her, making its space and wonderous color. She knew where the water holes were, the deep arroyos. It was no longer a lonely land but peopled and infinitely dear. She hardly heard the murmur of talk down the veranda, was lost in her own miserable reverie.

And then, suddenly, there came the sound of horses' hoofs, loud hoofs that were weary with long travel, and they came from the north. She listened idly for a while as they came nearer—then she rose up and laid a hand to her throat, helplessly.

For around the corner of the hotel there came an odd cavalcade indeed—a nondescript horse from the livery stable at the end of the street which bore in its saddle a disreputable scarecrow of a man whose gay sport clothes were torn to ribbons on his back, whose red face was puffed and swollen as from mortal combat, and whose evil eyes shot fire and rage unspeakable—while behind this apparition there rode a Toro, that redoubtable knight, Princiep' Allora, with tight lips and decision in every line.

Straight to that east pillar they came and the astounded watchers saw that Princiep's gun was in his hand—as it had been for every mile of that long ride.

"Ma'amelle," he said clearly, "there is your man. I have talk with him and there will be no more heart-aches for one of your loving nature. You shall have him always—so he promises—and if he does not play fair, why, I am always here. Look up, dear friend, for I have brought him back to you for always."

Lilith Hope did look up—with such fear and despair that she seemed like a lost soul in very truth, poised on the brink.

"Brought him back?" she gasped.

"Oh, my God!" The interested spectators looked on with bated breath. The two Easterners rose quietly to their feet.

At that look on Lilith's face bewilderment fell upon Princiep'.

"Did you not want him back, Senorita?" he asked.

"No!" cried the girl like a shot, roused at last from her drooping.

"No! It was the last I did want on this earth!"

She caught her breath and rushed on, as if the flood gates of speech were opened.

"I thought I had lost myself from him at last—had found peace and
